A hot luck supper was held at Community hall Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when two parents and members of 4-H club met for the regular monthly meeting of the club, when assistant farmer advisor, Harry Tucker of Humboldt Co. was present and assisted by the club leader, Clarence Westbrook and club president George Jacobson. IT SEEMS TO ME:

By Devey

Henry Kerr, in a talk to me Sunday while telling of the fire at the Brookings Lumber Co. mill, said he wanted me to be sure to make a public acknowledgment of his appreciation for the aid given by the Brookings firemen, who responded so quickly and who soon had the fire under control with only comparatively small damage.

It struck me, too, how quickly the group responded. Whatever any of the men was busy at, was dropped, and they went to save property from fire. Such co-operation should be applied to every movement in this community.

Such principles should be applied to the schools which must be rebuilt here before the state will recognize them as standard. Here's the proposed fire hall and ambulance garage—it must be built—and by donation labor for there are no funds to have this done.

If this community is to progress, if this community hopes to keep alive the good name it already possesses, then a more co-operative spirit must be shown by everyone, regardless of what the personal feelings may be.

It did the boys a lot of good last week to learn that the businessmen were buying baseball uniforms for the high school team, with hope that Brookings win, lose or draw, could make the right impression here and elsewhere.

On the other hand, and return for this courtesy high school students should also be considerate of the people who have pride in them. If there be any patronage to be handed out, local business should be given preference under most any circumstance. It isn't asking to much, either.

I am reminded of a few boys, only a few weeks ago, who openly boasted that they beat so-and-so out of a sale—even though they saved no money by this transaction. This so-and-so, boys, purchased a baseball suit.

Life, children must learn, is a proposition of "give and take," with many times more giving than taking. This little message, the hope is, will reach the boys who so erred, and who should, henceforth, be more considerate.
