Nowhere A Finer Climate - Nowhere A Finer Community

VOLUME THREE, NUMBER XXVIII

BROOKINGS, CURRY COUNTY, OREGON

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1948

INGERLINGS ARE WANTED IN BOTH VILLAGES OF AREA

President of Rod and Gun Club Reveals A New Fish Stock Here

W. H. Hanscam, president of the Chetco Rod and Gun Club, announces the planting of two truck loads of fingerling size trout in the Winchuck and Chetco Rivers during the week of Sept. 5.

The trout are from Brush Creek hatchery. The club also has the Pilot that a fish biologist from Oregon State Game Commission is camped on the banks of the Chetco to check the run of salmon.

The area is the sportsmen's frontier. The forests are virgin and the local streams unspoiled. It is re-assuring to those in the area who wish it to remain that way, as long as possible, to know that the ambitious rod and gun club remains in active force. This club has done much for the community and deserves all praise that can be given it.

Hampton Outlines Registration Opening Of School, September 27

Registration for Brookings-Harbor high school has been set for September 20 to 24, with evening registration periods, 7 to 9, for freshmen, who will begin Wednesday afternoon 2:30 to 5:00, standard time.

Registration periods are: Monday evening, Sept. 20, 7 to 9 p. m. P.S.T. Tuesday evening, Sept. 21, 7 to 9 P. S. T. Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 22, 2:30 to 5:00 P. S. T.

Thursdays—Thursday evening, Sept. 23, 7 to 9 P. S. T.

Elementary Registration: Anyone who has moved to Brookings since school dismissed last year, they are requested to register Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 22, from 2:30 to 5:00. If any children were not in Brookings elementary schools last year, all are urgently requested to register for this same registration, as it will be very helpful to the school if all newcomers to the community will register at elementary registration.

Faculty Members: Frances Henry is returning to the Brookings school staff, having taught here two years. She replaces Mrs. Merle D. Harrison of Sumpter, who has been engaged to teach at the high school. He taught the school for two years at Harper, Ore., and formerly at Halfway, Ore. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon. The remainder of the staff: Mrs. Guthrie, social science, and Mrs. Ruth Woodward, English, are speaking, library.

Elaine LeClaire Ties For First Prize At Oregon State Fair

Pitted against first-prize winners from every county in Oregon, at the State Fair, Salem, was Elaine LeClaire, of Harbor, who tied for first prize with two other girls, in Clothing III, of 4-H Sewing club work.

Under guidance of Mrs. Ben Kerns this year, Elaine won first at the Curry county fair at Gold Beach, and was given ten dollars at Salem in the three-way tie.

Elaine also had her expenses paid to Salem for the Oregon State Fair. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Joe Zumpfe, one of the chaperones.

Friends Visit Hogans For Past Ten Days

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Murray of New York, have been guests for the past ten days of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hogan at Bay View farm. Mrs. Murray is daughter of an old friend of the Hogans, whom the Hogans had not seen for some 20-odd years.

The Murrays, touring the entire country, are much impressed by the Brookings climate.

5 EAGLE SCOUT AWARDS WILL BE GIVEN OUT HERE

Court of Honor Will Be Held at Baptist Church, at 8 O'clock

Bill and Bob Shipley, Jimmie Lytle, Jimmy Vincent, and Ronald Akers, who have met all requirements, will be awarded the coveted eagle scout badges at a court of honor, billed for the Baptist community church, at 8 p. m. Thursday evening (tonight).

These boys awarded life scout badges last December, have, this summer, completed the remainder of the 21 merit badges necessary for the eagle award.

To become an eagle scout a boy must pass twelve required merit badges: swimming and life-saving, pathfinding, camping, cooking, bird study, pioneering, first aid, personal health, personal physical development or athletics, first aid, and public health. The remainder of the 21 necessary to become eagle scouts may be taken according to the wishes of the scout. Most all of these five coming up for eagle have several over the required number.

Many of these boys, when John Ginther took over the troop, 18 months ago, were either tender feet or had just passed that test.

In that length of time these boys, together with all others of the troop who wished, enjoyed two camps at Westmore, one a county camporee; and one up the Rogue River in July.

Merit Badge Awards Due

Bill Shipley: Forestry, wood-working, conservation, bird study, civics and Pioneering.

Bob Shipley: Conservation, cooking, scholarship, camping, wood-working, forestry, civics, and bird study.

Dick Newman: Athletics, dog care, wood-working, safety, cooking, and life scout badge.

Clark Schley: Civics, rabbit raising, swimming and star scout badge.

George Berger: Camping and civics.

Ronald Akers: Book binding, life-saving, swimming and bird study.

Miniature Kitchens Shown At Store

The window display of miniature scale model kitchens at the Chetco Home & Appliance store is attracting a great deal of attention and comment.

Anyone building a home or planning to remodel a kitchen, are free to go in and plan their dream kitchen.

These miniature appliances, wall cabinets, sinks, corner cupboards, windows and doors, are all built to scale and offer a real "pre-view" of your new kitchen or laundry room. adv

Carroll Reekman left Sunday noon by bus for Eugene to enroll at University of Oregon.

Rotary Club Paid Visit By Dist. Governor, Tuesday

Rotary Principles Needed Over Globe To Insure A Lasting World Peace

William Schuppel, governor of Dist. 102, Rotary International, comprising most of Oregon and a portion of southwest Washington, officially visited the Brookings Rotary Club, Monday evening and Tuesday noon at the regular luncheon.

Friday evening's meeting was devoted entirely to administration of the club, its principles and aims, as set forth by the international organization.

Each committee chairman of the club reported upon his activity, his plans, and from the governor gained tips on the job with recommendations for procedure. He was especially well pleased with the record of the club in community service.

On international service, Mr. Schuppel recommended that the club adopt some kind of international service, despite the fact that any small club has difficulty in maintaining a big plan.

"The trouble with the world at the present time is lack of understanding. I may illustrate this fact by just a few simple instances. For instance: did you ever see an Oriental read any book or newspaper of his language?"

"You know just how silly this seems to you. Well, it actually 'gripes' an Oriental to look at our books. The world must be tolerant of each other's peculiarities, if they may be called such, and once we come to that point of understanding, there will be no trouble."

"The Paul Harris Fellowship fund, through which 20 youth are brought to the United States each year, and 20 from the U. S. are sent abroad, has already accomplished more than it was first actually thought. These young men are 'briefed' on ways of the country to where they plan to study. There must be no misunderstanding on their part of things which may irk the people of that country."

"I am reminded of Don Cate, our own local representative. He was born in a poor family, and had to struggle terrifically hard for his education. His opportunity to go to Switzerland will do much to the peoples of Germany, France, and Italy, because he is, by his plan, obligated to do much 'missionary' work.

"With clubs in all countries of the world today, with exception of Russia, this task is being given every opportunity to function toward world peace. You must remember that Rotarians all over the world are very much alike in thinking and acting. For that reason the task for these young men will be made much easier."

The Paul Harris Memorial fund's eventual goal is set at $3,000,000. Each student picked to study in a foreign country is given a sum of $2000 for the year he will be gone. He will be aided in the work by Rotary clubs at and near the place of study.

Required of each 'fellow' who is picked is the ability to speak the language of the country. He must be 'screened' on his ability to meet people, his ability to understand other problems, and all must meet almost the same requirements of an ambassador.

LOCAL CHEVRON STATION TO OPEN OFFICIALLY, SAT.

Delay Due To Many Things Wanted In Station Construction

After being held up from setting an opening date for their new Chevron Station, V. A. Mendenhall, Jr. and Ed Thornton, at last have set Saturday, September 18 as official opening, although the station has been open for trade since Sunday.

Starting construction early last spring, the owners experienced numbers of delays due to material scarcity, and bad weather. About a month ago, when construction was about complete, the owners were unable to connect with the water and sewer on the date they hoped to open.

An advertisement, on page three of this issue, tells about the formal opening plans.

The former Chevron station will be closed during the gasoline shortage, caused by the strike of oil refinery men. When this situation is relieved, the owners may re-open the place, or may sub-lease it to someone, if an opportunity arises.

In the new station, a complete line of Standard Oil Co. products will be handled. A complete lubrication and washing service is also ready for the patrons.

Plumbing Contract Let By Dist. Board

Charles Stanhurst and J. A. Jochens, local plumbers, were awarded the contract, last Friday night by the school board, to making the plumbing alterations at the high school building, before the opening of school, set for Monday, Sept. 27.

Both these plumbers are doing all in their power to accomplish the task.

This was permitted by the architect to make it possible to open school at an early date.

Power Will Be Off Sunday Morning

Power will be off from 8 a. m. to 12:30 Sunday morning to allow the Coos-Curry Electric Co-operative crew to install a new switch at the state line, as well as other alterations.

Power was knocked out last Saturday afternoon when the Jaklewicz log trailer unhooked and went over the bank at the Wilson Freeman farm. While the power was off almost five hours, no one was hurt, and no damage was done to the truck.
