

Jerry Kelleher Is Master of Troop 32

Jerry Kelleher, who had three years of scouting experience in Brookings while he lived in Brookings, during his youth, will, this week, become master of "32" Brookings own troop of scouts. Kelleher replaces John Gintner, who held the position over the summer, and who will be busy at Brookings and construction of his home in the Harbor area. Together with a few of the committee members, Jerry attended the county meeting held at Gold Beach Wednesday evening when plans were laid for the coming year.

Guthrie's Fish Jumped Record

Art Guthrie, whose livelihood comes from coaching, lays no claim to prowess as a fisherman, but he can do quite well at it.

Being a coach, and good at ways of handling "what he may have," he found out that fishing was a game—you have to guess ahead.

Just about the time the story got out that Walt Bomhoff had set a record, Art got out the old pole—result: a 4 3/4-lb. salmon, just one pound heavier than Walt's.

Will this issue reach the mails before Art's story will be just another story?

Additions Made At Goetz Cottage

Not to be outdone by competitors of area, Gordon Goetz, last week, added two more cottages to his string which he recently purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart.

Loaded with "doubles", Mr. Goetz told the Pilot that he had no single cabins to rent to travelers. He overcame this by eliminating the garages between cabins, and converting them into single bed cabins.

Electric heat will be installed as soon as possible, replacing the oil heaters, now in each cabin.

Paving Crew Has Moved Northward

After completing the re-surfacing of the highway between the state line and Carpenterville, the highway department paving crew gathered up all its equipment Thursday and moved to the vicinity of Gold Beach, where it will pick up the job and complete the work to the vicinity of Ophir on that setting.

A highway patrol crew will be established in this area, it is understood, to keep the surface in constant repair, and not allow it to break down as was the case last winter.
