Cleveland Drubs Boston Braves To Win World's Series Title; First Since 1920

With exception of the fifth of series games, at Cleveland, Sunday, it is doubtful if pitching ever stood out so prominently in any previous world series. Cleveland, the butt of the 11 to 5 onslaught, Sunday, took the sixth (and the deciding) game Monday at Boston, 4 to 3.

Noteworthy in this series was the fact that Bob Feller, who had a 2-hit game in the first encounter and lost, was shellacked from the game Sunday. Lemon was the pitching hero, if there was any such hero, but he has but a slight edge over Beardon who put Cleveland into the series by his brilliant pitching against Detroit and Boston Red Sox.

Lou Boudreaux, manager of Cleveland, was wise in all his choices of pitchers, and his in-the-game strategy. His team hit when hits meant games. However, statistics show that there was scarcely any difference in the box scores of the teams in all the games.

This is the first world's series Cleveland has won since Tris Speaker turned in the same performance in 1920 against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Oregon Chest Mgr. Will Speak Here Next Tuesday

H. C. Johnson, field representative for Oregon Chest, will be speaker, next Tuesday, Oct. 19, Warren Smith, program chairman for the club. The letter, informing Mr. Smith:

"Complying with your request of Oct. 4, this will confirm speaking engagement before the Rotary Club at Noon, Oct. 19.

In the interests of the community it would be appreciated if you could arrange an assembly meeting of the seniors of your high school at which time this same talk could be given for their benefit. If possible, this assembly should be at approximately 11 a. m. so I could return to Gold Beach after my noon schedule.

The thought has just occurred to me that it might be desirable and beneficial for the school authorities to allow the children to invite their parents, principally the mothers, to attend the assembly of the seniors so that they will have the same information that is given to the business men at the noon talk.

Leming Moves To New Barber Shop

Held up several weeks for want of plumbing, The Redwood Barber shop, built by Henry Leming was occupied Monday. The new structure, finished outside in varnished redwood, is attractive.

As a new service to the community, Mr. Leming has installed a shower bath. Many working men will appreciate this courtesy on the part of Mr. Leming.
