

Girl Scouts Now Boast Three Units For Local Area

Brookings-Harbor area is proud of its newly-organized Girl Scout troops, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, and now functioning. National dues of $1 per girl and credential fees of 12c per girl, paid by the Auxiliary, have been sent in to the National Headquarters, at New York City. Payment of these fees local girls become part of the national organization, with their names on the official rolls. Each registered member is entitled to privileges and pleasures of Girl Scouting.

The 12c fee, paid by the V. F. W. Auxiliary, entitles the local girls to use the scout program, and is considered the community's obligation to keep the national organization in operation over the country.

SENIOR GROUP

The senior group, made up of older intermediate age girls and those of high school age, is under direction of Mrs. Ira Brown, and this group had its first practice workout as a group in serving the recent Boy Scout dinner. They were willing helpers and gained much from this practice.

To date 13 girls are registered in this group.

INTERMEDIATE GROUP

Twenty girls have been registered by Mrs. Roy Brimm, the leader of this girl scout group.

Girls of intermediate age are from 10 through 14 years of age. Plans are being made for the investiture services. Each girl has paid her dues, has participated in four or more meetings and knows the Girl Scout promise and laws. Mrs. Paul Shrader is assistant leader.

BROWNIE SCOUTS

The Brownies can boast of 16 members with all qualifications passed to make them full-fledged Brownies.

This group, under direction of Mrs. John Ginther, is for girls from seven to 10 years of age.

SCOUT COMMITTEE

The committee has worked for a number of months, getting the leaders, and girls together. It was started last spring when Mrs. Claude Goldizen called a meeting of all interested people.

Since available information was not at hand then, and before it was obtained, school was out.

During the summer another attempt was made to interest girls, with a swimming party. Few attended and it was not until after school started when a large group of girls expressed interest at a Hallowe'en party.

This committee is proud of the number of girls who will be able to take advantage of the work in this community. The total number is now 49. The committee feels, at last, that the community is started on the way and feel indebted to all those who made the organization possible. The committee consists of five: Mrs. Dewey Akers, Mrs. Lynn Hampton, Mrs. Lucile Mulino, Mrs. Warren Smith and Mrs. Lillian Mathews.

Along Azalea Row Motif Espanol

The more than 70 members and their guests arriving in Spanish costume — high jeweled combs, mantillas, sombreros, etc., and the all-Spanish musical program of the Fiesta chorus under direction and plus the beautiful voice of Mrs. Curzon MacKenzie, also the seating arrangements at the small tables of four throughout the hall, cabaret fashion, set the atmosphere and mood of last Thursday's monthly meeting and birthday party of the club which was festive from beginning to end.

Mrs. Guy Rice, club's president, very charming indeed, with white mantilla and pink roses covering her hair, dispatched the club's pressing business with both speed and direction coming to the very interesting reports from the respective club chairmen and historians and the seed-box demonstration by horticulture chairman, Mrs. Bertha Moore. Even here, in the by-play between Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Moore as she sifted good dirt and gave out precise information was the gala mood carried along. Mrs. Moore can handle good comedy as well as horticulture.

Those of us who had looked forward with particular interest to the early history of the club (who thought of it first, met and talked it "up"—its organization, first president, charter members, early works, etc.) were disappointed as regretful of the cause, when it was learned that Mrs. Pearmine who had been painstakingly preparing this part of the program, was ill and, consequently, would be absent from the meeting. However, when Mrs. Hibbard took on this 'little chore' and names, dates and interesting details began pouring on our ears—all in chronological order, we knew it was going to be a perfect day.

Our own regret was that many of those mentioned could not be present to hear the lovely tributes paid them and to see the past presidents receive their presidents pin, a gift of their club, and presented by the respective vice-presidents.

The meeting was then turned over to the petite and pretty duenna who was Dorothy Lockland, last year's president and in charge of this year's annual Fiesta flower show, to be held in conjunction with the Azalea Festival.

Dorothy congratulated all on their response to her request for a festive showing as a pre-view of what is to come at that time.

Noting Garden Clubber May Vincent seated among those present, she called upon her to stand up to receive the congratulations of her fellow members on the achievement and honor brought upon himself, his parents, and the district in general by her son Jimmy, who willy-nilly will carry Brookings in his pocket to Washington, and to the United Nations where he will meet the president and observe, shake hands and mingle with the world's "biggies."

"Fiesta chorus sang "Carmencita," "Carmena," and the very charming "Chiapanacas," complete with heel-clicking, and the clap-clap of castanets, after which Director MacKenzie introduced individually her wonderful singers: Mrs. Emil Moore, Mrs. William Hall, Mrs. Stanley Uaterson, Mrs. Gilbert Christensen, Mrs. Vernon Hanscam, Mrs. Geo. Widney, Mrs. Fred Moore and Mrs. Carl Bolin.

Hostesses of the day under chairmanship of Mrs. Otto Turley, Mrs. Warren Smith, Mrs. Erskine Miller, Mrs. George Weber and Mrs. Earl Brock were called upon for deserved bows before the membership.
