

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

Rod and Gun Club Doings—

The last regular monthly meeting of Chetco Rod & Gun Club which was held last Tuesday, enjoyed the largest attendance of record in many months.

One of the contributing causes for this enthusiastic turnout was the report made by the committee regarding the proposed club house. Negotiations are still not completed which makes impossible the publication of any news regarding its purchase. However, considerable optimism is held by board members as well as those serving on the committee.

A new set of by-laws was adopted at the last meeting after some debate and suggested changes. A copy of these new by-laws will be sent to each member as soon as they are off the press.

BASKETBALL—

Brookings and Harbor area has, in the Ramrods, sponsored by the Rod and Gun Club, a basketball team that has yet to taste defeat (only exception being the non-conference defeat of the second string to Smith River). Considering the excellence of this team which has met all comers to date and emerged victorious, has asked no favors but only the support and approval of the community that they represent, it is difficult for this writer to understand the relatively small attendance at the local games and the mild acceptance by even these few supporters of the extreme ability and enviable record of their local team. When we've got something to turn out and cheer for—LET'S DO IT!

FISHING GOSSIP—

The low, clear water condition which sportsmen had to contend with during the entire month of January has now changed with the recent rain and the warmer weather inland. Many steelhead are now being taken, principally on bait, both bottom and drift fishing.

A FELLER SEZ—

Age appears best in four things—old wood, to burn; old wine, to drink; old friends, to trust, and old authors, to read.

GAME RESULTS

At Crescent City, Saturday, evening, the Ramrods won from Crag Lumber Co. by a 29-23 tally. The low score, players claim, was due to the fact that eagle-eyed Merle Hanscam was missing from the lineup. The new daughter, who he is training for a rooting section, needed coaching.

Our Silent Friends—the Books

Next Tuesday, Feb. 22, will be fittingly celebrated. Sponsored by the Harbor Community club is a most worthy and blessed effort to raise money for additional books for the library. The celebration will be in the form of an "antique tea" with an added program scheduled for the evening. All in the community are invited to contribute to the display of antiques, and interesting objects "de art" or otherwise.

In most every home I've visited here, there has been something of an antique or unique quality which would, I feel sure, be of interest to all. It doesn't need to be a Louis XIV chair or a rabbit's foot worn by Daniel Boone—what you have will be better.

The community club inaugurated this library and placed it (very generously) in its present location in the Central building of Brookings, with due consideration and special regard to convenience of the school children as well as for the benefit of the whole community. Now these donors and those who give of their knowledge and time, unstintingly, is librarians and custodians of this library, are letting us know that this library, like all others, needs new books.

They are giving all who have benefitted by this great work, through our children as well as ourselves, an opportunity to show our appreciation, approval and an eagerness to help by a sincere effort to contribute to the display of antiques, but an all-out attendance at the tea and by our voluntary contribution to the collection plates, at our most generous best. No thoughtful soul of good heart needs to be told of the benefit to the community, this library has brought. We have been offered a share in its continuance and building, and next Tuesday, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday at the Grange hall, 2 p. m. on. Let it be known that "Now is the time."

GARDEN CLUB

What the Azalea Garden club might consider a light attendance would be more than full quota for most of the garden clubs of these United States but such is the membership of our club that an attendance of over 40 is not too happily counted. The extraordinary weather was certainly a factor, in fact, it has produced that surprised "who me?" look on all faces here, recently.

It is regrettable that so many of you had to miss this splendid meeting—one highly instructive as well as being our Valentine party of the year. The tables decorated in the Valentine theme, arranged cross-cross and taking off from a center piece of blooming acacias on a grand scale, were charming indeed. The many compliments and smiles of approval must have gladdened the hearts of the hostesses of the day, Mrs. C. H. Rausch and Miss Zora Ziegler, under chairmanship of Mrs. Glen Simpson. The Valentine exchange was smoothly carried on under capable hands of one of our youngest and prettiest members, Mrs. Joseph DePalma, and complimentary to all this was the president's hat (in her own estimate) "my gayest and silliest as a defy to the elements and because it looks like a Valentine."

The Speakers

That excellent speaker, Mabel Maris, brought Dahlias into the realm of intimate knowledge.

Her own enthusiasm, also, she passed on to her audience. However, it is hard to think of Mabel Maris' listeners as audience. Listening to her one gets the impression that he is partaking so freely in the "chat" which is the essence of a good speaker.

Then there was the thoughtful paper prepared by our conservation chairman, Mrs. Christianson—"The Whys of Conservation," the urgency both the knowledge and the practice of it. Mrs. Christianson's sage remark on this profoundly serious question: "Great problems are never settled in a hurry but we must not be discouraged at the smallness which of necessity, must be our individual contribution. If we seek to know about conservation and with added light do our best it will help."

Thought For The Day—
"Short is longest fame—a whisper passed from race to race of dying men."

Hanscam Store Was Robbed, Thursday

Sometime between noon and two o'clock, Thursday afternoon, while Vernon Hanscam was in the store alone, the store was "picked" for over $1000, which the firm had withdrawn from the bank to cash payroll checks.

Vernon concludes that while he was busy with customers, a person went to the corner where the large safe stood, and took the money, carried in large canvas bag, provided by banks for money purposes.

At the time this paper goes to press nothing has been learned about the solving of the robbery.

"Ramrods" Boast Perfect Season On Maple Courts

Rod and Gun Club members puff out their chests when they talk about the Ramrods, their basketball team which has won six league games, and two outside the league. The only blot on the otherwise perfect record is the defeat of the B squad by Smith River recently.
