

Annual Meeting Christian Science Held At Boston

BOSTON, June 6 — Breaking through the crust of ancient beliefs in material power, the post-war world is reaching out in an unprecedented effort for something better upon which to found a union of nations, the Christian Science Board of Directors declared today.

Addressing several thousand Christian Scientists attending the annual meeting of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, the Directors viewed with satisfaction the world-wide stir in human consciousness to discard the material for the spiritual.

Physicians, they said, are giving more importance to thought in relation to disease. Natural scientists, they added, are gaining in their recognition of the insubstantiality of matter.

Religious leaders everywhere, they pointed out, have developed a widespread sense of the need and reasonableness of greater and more direct evidences of spiritual power.

In various other directions, the Directors continued, there is a strong urge to look beyond mere human means for the establishment of stable government.

The Directors' statement and the election of Miss Emma C. Shipman to the Presidency of The Mother Church for the ensuing year sparked an annual meeting filled with reports of marked progress in the Christian Science movement throughout the globe.

If Mary Baker Eddy, discoverer and founder of Christian Science, were here today, according to the new president, "she would see the signs of the growth she most desired"—signs that stem from what Miss Shipman described as "a more steadfast consciousness of the all-power and all-presence of God."

This consciousness was seen by the Directors of the Church as rapidly spreading throughout the postwar world, where "beliefs long accepted are being questioned and discarded as never before."

"Not only the general stir in human consciousness but definite basic changes of concept in the major fields of science, theology, and medicine" were said by the Directors to have contributed to a growing respect for Christian Science and the spiritual healing for which it stands.

"These are the three measures of meal to which Mrs. Eddy referred—science, theology, and medicine—and certainly great changes have been going on in all of them.

"The changes plainly represent a yielding of human thought in some measure of Truth, as revealed by Mrs. Eddy, and they have undoubtedly created in many quarters new and more favorable attitudes toward her teaching."

"My telephone saved me $1,000"

A grateful businessman recently wrote his telephone company, "The old saying 'time is money' certainly holds true for me. If I hadn't been able to make an immediate long distance telephone contact with an important customer, I would be $1,000 poorer today." Every day similar stories reveal how local and long distance telephone service saves people time and money. We're always glad to hear them, for they are further proof of the increasing value of telephone service.
