

Harbor Community Club Discussed A Traffic Problem

The June meeting of Harbor Community club was held Friday afternoon at the Grange hall with Ethel Olsen in charge of the business meeting.

Mrs. Mae Simpson reported for the float committee, which will enter a float at Lily Blossom parade. Mrs. Simpson will be assisted by Mrs. Elmer Rapraeger and other members.

Twenty-one members and two visitors were present.

Quite a discussion was held on the traffic problem caused by the heavy logging and lumber trucks roaring across the Chetco river bridge and through Harbor, many times being across the center line several feet, in the other traffic lane.

A committee of Ruth Bathiany, Mabel McVay, and Eunice Wollam was appointed to see what could be done to stop this dangerous practice.

Election of officers resulted in:

President—Bertha Moore.

Vice-president—Erma Rice.

Secretary and treasurer—Mae Simpson. Installation will be held at the July meeting.

The recreation hour was under leadership of Mabel McVay, who conducted guessing games. Refreshments of strawberry shortcake and coffee were served by Grace Edwardson, Viola Hanscan and Kathryn Reekman.

Along Azalea Row

Just two more days before the opening day of the Third Annual Lily Blossom Time of Brookings and Harbor. The opening day is of special interest to all Azalea Garden Club members, as it programs the dedication of Loeb State Park.

Loeb State Park was the main civic project adopted by our past president of the Oregon Federation of Garden Clubs, Mrs. Walter E. Wilhelm, when she took office three years ago. Under the project name of "Save the Myrtlewoods," this conservation effort, spear-headed through our state federation, and with the great help of many other state organizations, resulted in the procurement of Loeb State Park; the dedication ceremonies will take place Saturday, commencing at 3:00 p. m. other organizations working very neatly and tidily with the Azalea Garden Club, are doing their best to make this dedication notable and a show-of-appreciation from the entire community that we have fallen heir to such concerted state-wide effort as resulted in Loeb State Park.

We shall have many distinguished guests from among those who helped our Oregon Federation, Mrs. Welhelm in particular, bring this worthy project to a successful conclusion. Besides Mrs. Welhelm, we are fortunate in being able to announce that Marshall Dana, world observer, and editor of editorial page of Oregon Journal, will give the dedication address.

With a pot luck picnic at the grove at 1:00 the Azalea Garden club will be hosts to all guests. Lillian Weideman is in charge of arrangements for the picnic, so members will get in touch with her when they arrive at the spot with their pot-luck baskets. Extra cutlery, cups and saucers, or plates, as well as good things to eat are indicated.

Our Lily Blossom Float

Above we have detailed a civic project of our state federation which has reflected no little credit to the Azalea Garden club in its benefit to our whole community. One of our very special community projects is our Garden Club float for the parade on July 4th. A committee in charge of this project is headed by Mr. and Mrs. Fay Hardesty.

Members not involved in aiding on other floats are urged to volunteer Saturday, to Mrs. Hardesty.

Thought for the Day—

A "miss" can be much less great than a "mile."

Float Chairmen

For the information of those entering floats, the list of chairmen are again published. Entrants of floats will seek their own chairmen at the start of the parade, so that the task of judging will be simplified.

Sawmills—Cliff Brimm.

Truckers—Bill Duggan.

Comics—B. J. Gould.

Horses—Eddie Thornton.

Bicycles and Juveniles—Mrs. A. P. Hendricks.

Organizations—Mrs. W. Wollam

Individuals—Earl Carson.

Officers, July 12 Rebekahs Will Seat

The second June Meeting of Topaz Rebekah lodge was held Tuesday evening at the Odd Fellows hall. Installation will be held next meeting.

Plans were completed for the Odd Fellows and Rebekah float for the parade on July 4.

In a contest, the Noble Grand's side lost in attendance to vice-grand's side and the losers will be hosts at a 6 o'clock dinner before the installation meeting on July 12. All members are urged to be present.

Refreshments of cake and coffee were served by Anna Waldien, Emma Waldien, Ethel Olsen and Beryl Bollinger following the meeting.

'Mistakes' Have A Habit Of Repeating

Here are a few samples of "Who said that?"

The Pilot, not free from making blunders with its typography, is not alone in this arousing of mirth for readers.

"It is with regret that we learn of Mr. Wayne's recovery from an automobile accident."

"Frank cape is at the Massachusetts General hospital. He is suffering from head injuries and shock from coming in contact with a live wife."

"Having broken both ankles in a collision, Mrs. McKnight is recovering under the car of her physician."

"Fifty guests assembled at the Domestic Forum, and thirty have been married to the same man for more than 30 years."

A New Zealand newspaper did a trick once, when it reported:

"Mr. X, defective on the police force . . ." In the next issue, the paper wanted to apologize, and came up with this: "We are sorry we made the mistake about Mr. X, detective on the police force."

Closely allied to this blunder is the obituary of the "bottle" scarred veteran. The apology was "the battle "scared" veteran."

An advertisement read: "Wanted, a boy to take care of horses who can speak German."

Think of this one: For Sale: 25 mens wool suits, $15 — they won't last an hour.

An insecticide advertisement in a Spokane paper said that it was unsurpassed in "getting rid of aunts."

The absence of the letter 'g' caused havoc in several headlines—One of them was "The new bride can bear 50 tons." Another read: "The bartered bride," instead of "the battered bride."

The substitution of the letter "i" for "d" turned a dull statement into a startling truth: "Mrs. Robbins, Woman's club president, announces that on the 15th of June, the final meeting will be hell."
