Nowhere a Finer Climate - Nowhere A Finer Community

VOLUME FOUR, NUMBER XXXVI.

BROOKINGS, CURRY COUNTY, OREGON

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1949

"CAVALCADE OF HARMONY" WAS ACCLAIMED GREATEST EVENT OF YEAR BY HUNDREDS, LAST SAT.

The phrase, "hanging from the rafters," as applied to the audience of a packed theatre, was certainly appropos in the case of S. P. E. B. S. Q. S. A. charter presentation by the Klamath Falls chapter to the new Brookings chapter, No. 675, which took place at the Pine Cone Theatre, last Saturday evening.

The enthusiastic comments of the audience upon leaving the theatre plainly marked the advance promise of the excellence of the entertainment, advertised as a "Cavalcade of Harmony," to be a classic of understatement.

Three hundred and seventy-five people jammed the theatre to overflowing with several score turned away who had hope, by a turn of fate, to pick up last-minute tickets. One hundred and twenty-seven members of S. P. E. B. S. Q. S. A. raised their voices collectively, in quartets, and in chosen choral groups to provide listeners the most thrilling musical treat ever witnessed by any residents of the area.

The magnitude of the celebration was astounding when it was realized that 31,096 single-unit miles were consumed by the quartets and choruses in traveling to Brookings for this one evening of celebration. Following the the-

Flower Show Will Feature Meeting

November meeting of Azalea Garden Club will be held Thursday, Nov. 10, and is expected to be a bower of beauty with every member exhibiting her skill in flower arrangements and horticultural exhibits from the garden. A fall flower show has been planned with Mrs. Martha Grayshel in charge of flower arrangements and Mrs. Eunice Wollam of horticultural exhibits.

Chrysanthemums, a favorite at this time of the year, are expected to steal the show.

O. E. A. President Billed By P.-T. A. Group, Thursday

"What's Happening In Education," will be the topic for a talk to be given by Mrs. Martha Shull, president of Oregon Educational Association, at November meeting of Parents-Teachers Association, booked for the high school for tonight (Nov. 3) at 8:00.

In addition to this talk, Margaret Byrne and Maryann Biddle will give a report of Beaver Girl State, at Salem, last June. This report will be concerning the education along governmental lines given boys and girls by Legion and Auxiliary.

Mrs. Georgia Fromm, county superintendent of schools, will be a special guest. Members of the school board will also be guests.

Special music will be furnished by the high school girls chorus.

atre program, 191 guests were served their favorite beverage at Vincents Shadow room where they were entertained prior to the Afterglow.

This Afterglow, which is always part of the many get-togethers of the society, was held at the Grange hall and showed an attendance of 127 members and 149 guests.

There an excellent buffet of wondrous proportions was served under supervision of Charles H. Grayshel, amid a new out-break of harmony interspersed with more grand stories by that inimitable master of ceremonies, John Houston. With the rafters of the Grange hall shaking with the vibrations of hearty laughter and song, the wee hours of the morning crept up all too soon, and, as the last notes of the last song died away, all were agreed that, "It's always fair weather when good fellows get together."

The Brookings chapter also made arrangements for boats on the river so that those of the visiting barbershoppers who wished, might try their luck at landing a Chinook salmon. Perhaps only those taking the fish had things to say about it, but as far as is known, every visiting chapter member had good luck.

Dr. F. C. Adams and his fishing partner, Claude Davis, accounted for more than any of the others, but Dr. Peak and his partner did well for themselves too, with four big salmon in one day's fishing. The three parties accounted for three limits in the last day's try and made their fellow-members so envious that they now plan a trip back, plus fishing equipment, within the next week or two.

All in all, as we view in retrospect the wonderful and thrilling entertainment of last Saturday evening served up so generously in the spirit of good fellowship, we feel extremely proud and, in a like degree, humbly grateful that we have, in a community as small as ours, a group of men so enterprising and completely unselfish as to embrace a society of such scope as the S. P. E. B. S. Q. S. A. and bring to us in this area the spirit of good fellowship in song and the harmony of voice and hearts that we would all do well to emulate.

Smith River Dance Will Sell Advance Tickets

Tickets are now on sale for the big Armistice day dance, sponsored by the Smith River Post No. 712, and Auxiliary, for Saturday, Nov. 12. Bills will be put out all along the coast by the end of the week.

As an added attraction to this rance, a 52-pieces set of Rogers Silverware will be given as a door prize. Music will be furnished by Pacific Harmony Six.

Rex & Faye Hayes Moved Cannery Operations Here

Rex and Faye Hayes, who established the "Cedar Lane Cannery," on Hwy 101, south of Harbor, early this summer, moved here to live, early this week. Beginning this week, this will be the seat of their operations.

In a statement to the Pilot, on Monday, Rex asserted that the reception he had received here exceeded as much as three times, what he had anticipated, when he commenced building operations early this year.

"These long trips to and from Gold Beach daily, since early in the summer, have about worn me out. The amount of fish I have hauled is beyond our most fond hopes. We will be pleased to get settled, and back to a routine, instead of this hectic manner in running two places."

Many Expected At O. C. A. Meeting

Several from this community are planning to attend the annual convention of Oregon Coast Association meeting at Crescent City, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday for the 19th fonfab of the group.

From advance notices, members and friends from Victoria, B. C., to Southern California will be present. This year marks the 30th year since the beginning of this organization in 1919 when a few enterprising men organized to work for the passage of a bill providing for state construction of a highway along the Oregon coast. Special ceremonies are being arranged.

A full program of business sessions, special luncheons, tours, and a big variety show are scheduled for this convention, to close at Tuesday noon.

Important speakers scheduled to appear include Ralph Moore, of Coos Bay, chairman of the Oregon Legislative Committee for highways and roads, who will discuss the highway situation in Oregon; Manley F. Robison, director of the travel department of the Oregon state highway commission, who will speak on the tourist picture; Herbert J. Fehely of Klamath, Calif., director of the Golden Gate bridge and highway district, who will give the opening address, and Earl T. Newbry, secretary of the state of Oregon, who will address the closing luncheon, Tuesday.

A big variety show will highlight the Monday evening program with Bob Perkins of Brookings as master of ceremonies.

Delightful Del Norte, Inc., has billed a cocktail party for 5:30 p. m., Saturday at the Lauff hotel. All Oregon Coast association members are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Watson and family of Klamath Falls spent Saturday night and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Beem. Mrs. Watson, a flutist, played a solo at the Baptist Community church, Sunday morning.

SUCCESS CROWNED EFFORT, MON., IN FIRST EVENT TO BE STAGED BY ALL-YEAR EVENTS ASSOCIATION

Success crowned every effort made by the Parent-Teachers Association in its first attempt at staging a local Hallowe'en party, Monday evening, under the auspices of All-Year Events Association. An estimated crowd of 500 followed the parade from the Shell service station to the grade school, where waited a bonfire, and the judging of costumes of the evening.

Headed by Homer Kessler, Mrs. Lloyd Morris, judges had a difficult time arriving at decisions, so relied upon applause for the popular choice among three candidates. Winners were:

Pre-School: Nancy Hendricks, dressed as a scarecrow, with all the adornments seen in some lily fields the past year or so.

Grades one to four: Donna Whirry, who was dressed as Satan, complete with a forked tail, a pitchfork, and such.

Grades five to eight: Jerry Hamann, dressed as the Hunchback of Notre Dame. (He was also given the sweepstakes prize).

In the high school competition judges had about their most difficult time arriving at a choice. Mary Lou Berger and Pauline Hendricks, dressed as groom and bride, were finally acclaimed the best, although there were others who offered terrific competition. George Foster, as a negro mammy, caused plenty of doubts in the minds of those who tried to decide the issue.

Mrs. Martha Grayshel, dressed as the legendary "goose woman," won the adult prize, only after judges called upon applause any number of times for help.

Doughnuts and cider, in quantity sufficient to flood any party of this nature, climaxed the evening, with everyone helping himself to as many glasses as he felt able to "handle." The cider was donated by George Funk, whose efforts are largely responsible for establishment of All-Year Events Association.

Gordon Goetz, president of All-Year Events Association, whose pride rose with every movement Monday, told the Pilot that he felt that this community had at last found a way to handle all events with ease and success, by the co-operation shown Monday.

Parent-Teachers Association enjoyed every success it had fondly hoped, when more than a hundred turned up at the starting point in full costume. Mrs. Morris confided to friends: "We had no idea that it would be this big. It is surprising."

Homer Kessler, upon whom a burden of judging fell, said: "I saw a lot of clever costumes. I did the best I could to pick out the best. Sometimes, after the second, third or fourth look, I even doubted my own judgment."

Parents certainly supported the movement by attendance. Dozens were heard to comment: "This is the way to observe Hallowe'en—think of the fun those children are having—and look at us."

Noted Gardener Is Billed In Azalea Garden Club Talk

Mrs. Daniel Heffner, Portland, well-known in garden circles, will be guest speaker at the Azalea Garden Club's November meeting, at the Grange hall, Nov. 10. She is past president of the State Federation of Garden Clubs of Oregon, and is now a regional director of the Pacific Region of the National Garden Clubs of America.

It was, in a measure, due to her efforts, that the national officers were guests here last spring at the Azalea Festival and Flower show, a fact which brought the Brookings and Harbor area national recognition. Out of a wealth of long experience in garden club work, Mrs. Heffner will choose her own subject for the afternoon.

Smith River Club Books Nov. Meeting

SMITH RIVER — Mrs. Violet Berry will be guest speaker, Friday afternoon at the meeting of Smith River Woman's Club, on a subject relative to Home Arts and Crafts.

Under direction of Eleanor Layman, program chairman for the day, there will be community singing led by the music committee. Hostesses for the afternoon will be Ethel Moss, Nora Jacobson, Laura Brock and Flora Webber. The meeting will be held at the community hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Howe and two sons, Gary and Gordon, are enjoying their stay in Brookings at the Neufeld home. Mr. Howe is ranger at the Crater Lake national park. Mrs. Howe is a cousin of Mrs. Neufeld.

Girls Scout Troop Enjoyed Party, Sun.

Troop 1, of Intermediate Girl Scouts had as their guests the Cub and Boy Scouts, Sunday evening at a Hallowe'en party, at the I. O. O. F. hall.

The visitors were greeted at the door with a "spooky" handshake from the witch. Games, "bobbing" for apples and fortunes told by Mrs. Ira Brown, were enjoyed.

Connie Jaklewicz and Dickie Berger won prizes for the outstanding costumes.

Refreshments of cake, punch and candy were served at nine o'clock.

Decorating the hall and all the plans for the party were made by the girls under direction of their leaders, Mrs. Jeri Funari and Mrs. Crump.
