

Library To Move Over Week-end To Templar Hotel

Chetco Community library will move over the week-end, said Mrs. Dorothy Lockland, Tuesday, and therefore, will be closed on Friday, Nov. 11, Armistice day. An open house will be held at the attractive new location in the Templar hotel building, formerly occupied by the Cox and Diment Electric store, Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 15, from 2 to 5. Under sponsorship of Harbor Community Club, the Chetco Library was opened in March, 1947 by Miss Mary Cavitt, a trained librarian. Elmer Bankus donated quarters upstairs in the Central Building; the Smith River Library loaned the new library 75 of its best books as a neighborly gesture; the State library at Salem also loaned a generous number and with donations in both Brookings and Harbor, the shelves were comfortably filled, and the library is efficiently supplying the community with reading material.

During the next two and half years the library has made a steady growth, and plans are under way to renovate the interior of the Central building, making it necessary to find a new home.

Earl Templar came to the rescue handsomely by donating the space in the building formerly occupied by the D. & C. Electric store. Redecoration of the new quarters is under supervision of the library board, consisting of Mrs. Guy F. Rice, president; Mrs. Jessie Judkins, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Schaal, Mrs. Roy Hendry, Mrs. Earl Simpson, Mrs. Tony Olsen and Mrs. Bertha Moore.

Members of the board wish to thank the many friends who have generously given their books and services to the library and supported its activities, and invite everyone to visit and enjoy the library in its new home.

Along Azalea Row

Your inquiring reporter has been out and about, with a nose for news. Many kettles are simmering and coming to a boil, but some are not quite ready for the serving. Lifting the lids we shall have a preview of things to come!

In an interview, Mrs. Lillian Weideman, whose committee is in charge of the work to be done by Azalea Garden club in the landscaping of the school grounds, said that she is well satisfied with progress thus far.

A survey has been made and the grounds plotted, shrubbery and flowers planned. Tentatively certain portions are allotted to individuals in whose gardens now are growing suitable materials for that particular location. Mrs. Ruth Bathiany is preparing some of her choicest fuchsias for a fuchsia garden about 60 feet long. Others, with special varieties of hydrangeas and veronicas have offered these as well. Now to a dish that will be served Thursday, Nov. 10 to the delight of all club members.

The yearbooks are out! Here is something extra special! A preview of the new book of the Azalea Garden Club left your reporter feeling it is a book of exceptional merit, both artistically and in context. Dewey Akers is to be congratulated for the layout! He has done a superb job! The modernistic cover is new and different. Mesdames Irma Rice and Myrtle Hibbard worked hard and long, and you will be proud of their labors.

Mrs. Maudee Luick, our talented Smith River neighbor adds charm and humor with her witty sketches. It is a book Azalea Garden club owns with pride.

Now for a glance into the future which becomes the present before we can say "Winter" — "spring" — Azalea Festival — and "Flower Show."

F. L. Wertz of Gold Hill, Ore. will show his original paintings at our Azalea Festival and Flower show. Recently he and his charming wife had a small showing of his paintings. "Fritz" Wertz paints in water colors, a difficult medium, and likes best to do some old ghost town, a seascape with fishing boats in the foreground or a portrait of an "old-timer." Living at Gold Hill where he paints Rogue river valley scenes, he comes, now and again, to be our neighbor and to do some seascapes, or perhaps water-color of the Chetco.

He studied at the Universities of Minnesota and Iowa, and with Xavier Martineau of California. His pictures hang in the Maryhill museum of fire arts and in the Portland art museum. He is a member of the Oregon Society of Artists. Men particularly, like his colorful pictures. One to which returned, again and again, was of the old Wolf Creek Tavern with some pack animals in the foreground. The Chetco river scene will surely be shown at the flower show. Back to the present again and the program for Thursday, Nov. 10.

Mrs. Daniel Heffner has sent us word that she is bringing some slides not previously shown in Oregon, new ones from the highway department. She will talk on Oregon's natural resources. The flower show and Mrs. Martha Grayshel's demonstration of fruit and flower arrangements for the Thanksgiving table will bring many members with guests to the Nov 10 meeting.

Local Couple Won Wyo. Homestead

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Musser soon will leave for their new home between Cody and Powell, Wyo., which Cal was fortunate enough to draw in a recent homestead opening to GIs.

In an irrigated section, this land is reputed to be fertile, and the new occupants should be able to prosper. The families of the men, for a time, will live at a settlement, until the men have completed the houses which will be their homes.

The project is some hundred miles east of Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming.

A similar plan is spoken of in this issue of Pilot, under heading of "Your Service Officer."

SMITH RIVER

Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Alice Kamberg, 77, who passed away Nov. 1, at Seaside hospital, following several months illness. Services were held from Smith River church with Rev. E. C. Hicks officiating.

Mrs. Kamberg, daughter of the late Alvin and Matilda Cooley, was born at Chetco Valley, Ore. April 18, 1872, where she spent her girlhood days. She was married to Emil A. Kamberg, Sept. 22, 1894, and they celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary five years ago.

Surviving are the widower, three daughters, Mrs. Amy Vanderhorst of Woodson, Ill., Mrs. Eva Mayes of Crescent City and Mrs. Dorothy Hardy of Rio Vista; Edgar Kamberg of Martinez, Alvan Kamberg of Eureka and Oscar Kamberg of Smith River. There are 13 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. Two sisters also survive: Mrs. Elizabeth McIndie of Gridley and Mrs. M. McBuzzini of Portland. Interment was at the family plot in the local cemetery.

Rev. E. C. Hicks left by bus for the north, Monday, for a two weeks vacation to visit his daughter as Salem and his son. He will go on to Portland for a check-up by his physician.

Mrs. Mary Haight arrived here recently from Vallejo, coming by way of Southwest Airways. Due to heavy fog the plane couldn't land at Crescent City. She completed her trip by bus. She will spend several weeks visiting her sons, Carlton and Dan, and their families.

Regular monthly meeting of Smith River P.-T. A. will be held next Monday at the school at 8 p. m.

The Ladies Society of the local church is holding a bazaar and food sale Thursday afternoon Nov. 17, at the community hall. There will be embroidery and needlework, suitable for Christmas gifts. Plenty of home-cooked food, home-made candy and novelty tables will complete the scene. Doors will open at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ulrich and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Evans have returned home from a vacation trip to Tule Lake, where they enjoyed hunting geese.

The county-wide 4-H club achievement night will be held Monday evening, Nov. 14 at the community hall at 8. An interesting program has been planned by the boys and girls of the agriculture and clothing clubs. Pins will be awarded to members who have completed their year's club work.

Silverware Door Prize At Armistice Dance

SMITH RIVER—The "event" of the year, say members of Post 712 American Legion and Auxiliary, will be the Armistice dance, set for Saturday, Nov. 12, at the community hall.

Pacific Harmony Six, noted artists of the smooth dance rhythm, will furnish the music, from 9 p. m. to 2 a. m.

A door prize of a 52-piece set of Rogers silverware will be attractive to any woman or man attending this affair, the committee points out. Advertisement about the events appears elsewhere in this issue.

Brookings Personalized Laundry has announced a new price schedule, which should be attractive to the homemakers. The laundry also wishes to help the ladies during the rainy weather by drying the cloths. See the advertisement on page eight.
