American Men Too Romantic

Helen Eustis, novelist and magazine writer, who disputes the notion that American husbands are unromantic. In fact, she claims they're too romantic. Writing in the December issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, Miss Eustis explains that husbands overwork themselves to free their wives from household drudgery. The result, she says, is that the wives become underworked and overfed and the husbands begin to appear unromantic alongside their wives' soap opera idols. As a solution, the author recommends that husbands and wives become better friends by sharing and enjoying mutual work and recreation.

Clair, Margie Freeman and LaVerne Landauer. Margaret Byrne is accompanist. Everyone is invite to come, and to bring a friend.

Not By Bread Alone

"And he said unto them: which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him: Friend, lend me three loaves: For a friend of mine, in his journey, is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him? And he from within shall answer and say: Trouble me not: the door is shut now, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give thee. I say unto you: Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many he he needeth." Luke 11:5-8.

Sometimes our efforts fail because we did not go first to our friend and borrow the three necessary loaves, Faith, Hope and Love. — Jos M. Johnson, Gold Beach.
