Curry County Offers Much To Economy Of Oregon; Long-Range Planning Must Be Practiced, C. of C. Was Told, Thurs.

"Curry County, Oregon, has a future, a definite and glorious future, but it will take some long-range planning," said W. M. "Jack" Bartlett, veteran of World War I, and head of Oregon State Board of Aeronautics, at the chamber of commerce meeting, last Thursday at the Grange hall. "By long-range planning, I do not mean for the next year or so, but for as long as fifty years. This planning must include all phases, including education, religious, transportation, marketing, and such.

"Believe it or not, Germany did some long range planning for world war 2. As early as 1925, blueprints were made for the capture of the world, by fifth-column activities, and believe me, it took most of the world to whip her in that attempt. We, in America, do not have any conception of what planning can really mean. We live here without too much effort, we have all we want to eat and we have the employment to furnish nearly all our wants, and have found little call to do too much planning.

"In the past decade many of us have seen a definite and tremendous shift of population to the west coast. Oregon has had the greatest percentage of gain of all states. Whether we like it or not people are here with us, so we must put them to work creating wealth. We have to do some planning for this as we have no chance to do any preparing beforehand.

"Resources are here in Oregon—especially Curry county—so it is our job to think out a program which will care for the next century. By this I mean to include all phases of progressive planning: education, religious groups, transportation, marketing, conservation and health.

"No state, and certainly no community can be any better than its schools—the factory we depend upon to mold the citizens of the future. Churches, lodges, clubs all play a part in our life to cement the citizenry into a better working unit.

"We must not overlook transportation. You people in Curry county know what I mean when I mention the value of rapid and cheap transportation. What good is any product, any resource, if we cannot place it on the market where it is needed. Florida's lemons and semi-tropical fruits are used the world over. California has oranges, lemons, dates, and garden products. In California it would be overproduction were it not for the transportation and markets.

"I understand you are seeking a harbor in this area. It is my sincere hope you get it. The realization of this harbor would elevate this county up in the class of any county anywhere. Curry county has the climate to grow many things. Your flowers, if transportation were possible in air, and other rapid means, they would be enjoyed by the entire nation the year around. See how important transportation can be?

"You have lumber here. Water transportation would lift that industry up to a point where it could compete with any section of the globe. You could, by this means, put other businesses into existence. Transportation, I say, is the key to almost every situation. All phases of transportation must be included. The advent of a harbor would attract railroads. Air travel would induce tourists to fly here from states as far away as Utah and Wyoming to enjoy a week-end at the beaches. You must include all phases in your long-range planning program."

Daffodil Tea Held At Smith River This Afternoon

SMITH RIVER—This afternoon at 1:30 doors will be opened for another Spring Flower Festival and Daffodil tea, which has been sponsored for many years by the Women's Club of this place. Its fame has spread over almost the entire west.

For those who may not be able to see the afternoon showing, will be given that opportunity from 7 to 9 p. m.

The Women's Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Eunice Faris, and her able committees, have worked long and diligently to make the 1950 show far greater than any previous showing, although many regular attendants of previous shows aver that they fail to see how any could be made better.

Aiding in many ways in the success of this show and in all recent previous shows has been members of Azalea Garden club, and daffodil growers of the area just north of the state line.

Local Unit Makes Most Chairs In Curry County

Six slipper chairs were completed last Wednesday and Thursday when the extension unit met at Hiland's bulb shed, with Mrs. Grace Yelton as project leader, aided by Miss Dorothy Newton, extension agent on the second day.

Mrs. Yelton took the leader's training work at Gold Beach under direction of Mrs. Carter, a home decoration specialist, of OSC, on March 6 and 7. Making chairs were Mesdames Lillian Zumpfe, Polly Clendenin, Bernice Stanhurst, Ethel Moss, Rose Hubbard and Marjorie Moore.

Two were made for girls rooms in red and white and blue and white checked percale combination with solid color. Another was made of yellow print gloshee for a gift. The other three were also attractive and all in all, leaders, as well as ladies, were pleased. This unit made the most chairs of any in the county.

Rotary Names Board Candidates

Nominated to the board of directors of the Brookings Rotary club for the coming year were: Merle Hanscam, Homer Kessler, Gordon Goetz and Virgil Goldsberry, Tuesday.

Discussion about completion of the tennis court at the corner of the high school grounds, 1950 project of the club was held, and decision was made to black-top the court instead of pouring a concrete base.

Pete Lesmeister, who, with Homer Haggerty, took in some exhibition baseball games at San Francisco, over the week-end, told the members about baseball and telling of his hopes for the local club the in Southern Oregon league, must "faster company" than the Rogue Valley set up, of which Brookings was a member and winner of the pennant last year.

Election of club officers will be made at an early date in order that the new president and secretary may attend the the spring conference of presidents and secretaries.

Third Annual Fashion Show and Dance Biggest Event Ever Staged By Satellite Social Club; Hundreds View 'Fashions'

Third annual Spring Fashion Show and Dance, staged by the Satellite Social club, Saturday at the High School gym, was acclaimed to be the best affair yet held in this community. The gym was packed to capacity at the showing of spring fashions, and the V. F. W. hall could accommodate no more at the dance, which followed.

Priscilla Robinson, acting as master of ceremonies, opened the show with a number from the high school girls chorus. The four little girls almost stole the show when they cunningly modeled their garments, and shoes. The boys added, by contract, to feminine attire the latest in sports, fishing and rain wear, worn by Raymond Reekman, George Foster, Jimmy Fitzhugh, Lyle Vaughan, and Joe Moore.

The chic attire of girls and ladies garments modeled was unbelievable, by many, for a town of this size.

One outstanding feature of the show was the showing of costumes of other nations, most of which are the property of Mrs. Priscilla Robinson and friends.

Highlighting the occasion was appropriate background music, during the show of garments, with Mrs. Lloyd Morris at the piano. Special numbers were given by Patsy Cook, accompanied by Mrs. M. C. Beem; vocal so-

Rally Held Tuesday Evening By B. T. S.

"Christians many times state that it is not their business if an individual wishes to drink alcoholic beverage," stated Pastor T. L. Theumler of Crescent City at the Brookings Temperance Society rally Tuesday night.

"However, the Scriptures so clearly indicate that we are our brothers' keepers in matters as this which affect the community, state and nation.

"History proves that liquor destroys nations. Our nation is on the road to ruin because of the legalized narcotic traffic in alcohol. Christians who complacently sit back and do not take an active part in combatting this traffic are more to blame for the results than non-Christians engaged in the production and distribution of these poisonous beverages."

The lecture was followed by a brief business session conducted by Vice-president Bert DeMoss in absence of President Gilbert Christensen.

Henry Kerr showed two sound pictures, depicting the poisonous effect of alcohol on living tissues and explaining its detrimental effect on society as a whole.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank Moore's Variety and Apparel Shop, Gould's Shoe Store, E. E. Hanscam & Sons, and all those who contributed so generously of their time and talents to make our Third Annual Spring Fashion Show and Dance a success. Rose Hubbard, president, Satellite Social Club.

ls by Mrs. Lloyd Morris and E. E. Johnes, accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Patterson.

The decorations added definitely, byt being in keeping with the nations portrayed by the show.

P.-T. A. Program Tonite

A nice program for all people of the community where they can see what their children are doing in the way of club activities, Thursday evening at the school when scouts, both boys and girls and 4-H clubs will demonstrate before P.-T. A.

LOCAL NEWS

Strangers coming into Brookings will not be mistaken, henceforth as to the name of this town. Greeting them will be a 15-ft. 8-inch neon, with Brookings displayed vertically, and the world Hotel above, and cabins below. Brookings is in rose-colored neon, the outline in green and the other wording in light orchid. Earl Munson, Tuesday, after the sign had been erected, wondered if it had been again jinxed, as it would not light up. Power was off, he discovered.

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Benthussen, of Paradise, Calif., arrived Tuesday and will remain until the first of the week, visiting their daughters, Mrs. Gilbert Christensen and Mrs. Stanley Patterson, and families.

Gilbert Christion is expected home tomorrow from a three-weeks trip in the east. He is driving home a new Studebaker car.

Carl Dodge, Westlake, Ore., has been in town the last four weeks tuning pianos and visiting his father, Earl R. Dodge, who lives north of town.

A program from the music department of Ventura, Junior College, of a musical revue, given at the college auditorium, Mar. 16 and 17 evenings, shows Betti Goldizen's name among the list of chorus members.

Mrs. Roy Molino returned on Tuesday by bus from a two-weeks visit and vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dandis, at Sacramento. She reports rain there most every day giving her a much needed rest with her parents, for they could not go out much.

John and Herman Carl have moved to the Dawson tracts to live after selling their ocean-frontage property to Mrs. Soule of Klamath Falls, who arrived last week and took possession.

Ladies, and men, too, are reminded of the bread and fancy roll demonstration at Brookings high school, Thursday at 2 p. m. Mrs. Frances Brennen, home economist from Crown Flour Mills, will be in charge. All are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stuebing and daughter, Marilyn, spent a few days shopping at Portland, the latter part of the week. Marilyn had to return to Corvallis, Monday where she is a student at Oregon State College and her parents returned home that evening.

COMMAND PERFORMANCE

By Royal Order of the Azalea Festival Court. Proclamation! Hear Ye All By These Presents—

Esteemed citizens of this community, your presence is requested at the Queen Selection Dance, to be held Saturday, April 15, at 8:30 p. m. at the Grange hall. We shall name our selection of Queen to you at this festive and royal occasion, so:

*Come all ye faithful and good citizens be Come, dance with us to our fiddlers three;
Let's bow to our partners and corners address
And all join hand and circle to the West.
Your partner's near, of that no doubt—
So grab her hand and all swing out.
Now the lady to your left is in need of a swing
So twirl her enough to make her sing
Now back to your partner before you fade,
And all get going in a hop promenade.
Let's doe see doe on the corners all,
Let's all swing out at the old Grange Hall,
Yes, hal uma left, remember the call—
And all of you come to our good Queen's Ball!*

Signed. THE ROYAL PRINCESSES.
