Port Orford News

By Dorothy Asdel

Stormy weather had another inning last week with high winds and considerable rain. Foam was blowing through town one morning from the frothy bay at high tide. Val Townley, Sixes school bus driver, reported a blob of it hitting his windshield as he was driving by the Studley house, a mile or more from the shore, on the highway. Others saw pieces of foam on the grade school yard, early in the morning. Thursday night, during a brief thunder storm, lightning blew out the transformer for the Hamlet. A new transformer had to be removed from Gold Beach and installed by Fred Steck, local REA manager, and his crew, before power could be restored at 2:30 Friday afternoon. Henry Stolik, who is mining near Cape Blanco reports seeing a ten-foot tidal wave at low tide one afternoon. A nominating committee was elected at P.-T. A. Tuesday afternoon in the multi-purpose room of the grade school. Refreshments were furnished by the seventh and eighth grade mothers. Mrs. Ralph Angel returned to her Elk River lodge last week after having been away since October, visiting her children and grandchildren in New York and returning by way of Portland to visit a son. Among those home from school for a few days respite after examinations was Edward Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williamson, who had four days vacation from University of Oregon, Eugene, and Richard Pugh, son of Dr. and Mrs. Pugh, for a brief week-end from Oregon State College. Edward drove back to Eugene with LaVern Gomez, visiting minister, who conducted the services at the Community church, Sunday. Gomez attends Northwest Christian College at Eugene.

Good fun was had by members of Stowaway club at their monthly dance at Castaway Saturday night. Among the novelty dance was a broom dance and a shoe dance. Usually in the latter the ladies remove one shoe and toss it in to the middle of the floor, when the men, who have been lined up facing the wall, then turn around and scramble for a shoe and match it up for their partner. But this time it was in reverse with each man placing his shoe on the floor and the ladies seeking and matching. Art Nieman on the trumpet, Mary Lee Anderson at the piano and Val Townley playing drums furnished the music.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wintermute returned to their home on Garrison lake for a brief visit this week. They have been chicken ranching for several months on their place in the Portland area.

Among those who made slipper chairs at Sixes Grange in the joint workshop, on Monday and Tuesday, were Irene Baker, Millia Johnson, Ethel Montgomery, Fern Townley and Bea Zumwalt from here and Ada Capps, Hazel, Lucille and Gracie McKenzie, Dacia Sweet and Edna and Gertrude Zumwalt of Sixes. Monday a pot luck luncheon was served, with the left-overs being kept at the Grange and extra fill-ins being brought Tuesday.

Hazel Guptil, one of the eight or nine helpers, didn't have any transportation from her home north of Sixes Monday, so with much effort finally managed to get a ride on a passing lumber truck, Tuesday, such was her determination to learn the art of slipper chair making. Evelyn McDonald and Echol Nutt lead the project and both returned on Wednesday afternoon to help several others put the finishings on their chairs.

Col. and Mrs. W. S. C. Hand returned to their home from an extended stay at Portland where Col. Hand underwent an operation at the Veterans hospital. Floyd E. Edwards, USN retired, and Mrs. Edwards of Florida, friends of the Hands, have been living at the Hand home, taking care of the things during their absence.

Back in town again are the Monroe Pratts who spent a few days in Portland and attending the funeral of Mrs. Pratt's father who died recently.

Enjoying a ham dinner with "covered" dishes and pies furnished by the ladies, the Legion and friends celebrated the Legion's birthday last week. Piece de resistance of the dinner was a red, white and blue frosted, three-layer cake, brought by Mrs. Carl Leonard, wife of the post commander. Guest speaker was Otto Hinkel, Legionnaire of our neighboring Langlois, who spoke on the importance of electing men to the office who will promote peace instead of war.

Nick and Catherine Marsh entertained the George Suttons of Gold Beach over the week-end. Among other activities they attended the Stowaway dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas had as guests, Sunday, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Corbin of Gold Beach.

Lou Ellen Flake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Flake, USCG retired, announced her engagement to William Crumrine, stationed with the Coast Guard here at an afternoon dinner for several girl friends at her home on Friday. Friday night she entertained a large group of friends at a birthday party held at the Castaway lodge.
