Few Couple Reach That Distinction

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Jacobs have reached that circle which is the privilege of but few couple to attain—that of the golden wedding anniversary. This writer has read statistics of one authority which said only one couple in 200 had that honor.

Whether or not that statistic means anything is quite beside the point. What is more important is that the institution of marriage has been fully carried out by this couple, which has shared all fortunes for the past half century.

The Pilot wishes to acknowledge this event with a picture of this couple, first in this community since the Pilot was founded. This is the Pilot's share in the honor bestowed upon the Jacobs in observance of the event.

IT SEEMS TO ME:

Soon the primaries will be at hand, in which we will decide a slate of candidates we wish to vote into office in November. In checking over the election laws of Oregon, it occurred to me that a blanket ballot for the primaries would be a lot better, inasmuch as then a person could not be forced to change registration to vote a ticket on which he would like to vote or help eliminate a candidate.

Washington, Idaho and Montana have this type of primary ballot, and one who has voted along this line, cannot quite console himself to this type used in Oregon. Maybe Oregon's type is right, but I have yet to have it proved to me.

Looks like the landscaping project of the Garden Club will get the fullest backing of all the organizations of the area, in a merchandising scheme to raise funds. Articles to be used will soon be on display, and people of the area will be told of the plan of financing.

I noted the barren school yard this week, and certainly I can see where work is sorely needed to make the place even presentable to home people, to say nothing about visitors of the area. Once established this new landscaping should be inexpensive to maintain since shrubs will be used heavily, which will require pruning and that is about all, except mowing of the lawn.

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 7.

The Golden Text is "When I say, My foot slippeth; Thy mercy, O Lord, held me up" (Ps. 94:18).

Among citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit" (Gal. 5:25), together with the following correlative passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is incapable of sin sickness and death. The real man cannot depart from holiness, nor can God, by whom man is evolved, engender the capacity or freedom to sin" (page 475).

Members of the Seventh-Day Adventist church at the 11 a. m. worship hour Saturday will be challenged to re-emphasize in every home the value of healthful living.

A special program will feature principles of health and rational treatment of disease that has been adopted by Adventists early in the history of the church. The program will present the close relationship between physical and spiritual health.

Prayer meetings are being held in the pastor's home in Harbor. The current series of the Patriarchs and Prophets will be continued next Wednesday night with the study of "Moses."

By Harris Ellsworth, M. C.

Debate on the "one-package" appropriation bill goes on. Heretofore annual appropriations have been made in separate bills for the several departments. This time all the money requested by the president in his budget is put before the house in one huge bill, 431 pages long.

Votes on the first amendments offered by Republicans, though close in count, indicated pretty clearly that the majority side of the house will pretty generally go along with the president's spending ideas. The "economy" amendments were voted down.

Meanwhile, Senator George, speaking as chairman of the joint committee on taxation, said the deficit for 1950 will be $6.7 billions instead of the $5.5 estimated by the president in his budget message. He also estimates that the deficit for 1951 will amount to $7.3 billions for that year in the face of the president's prediction of a deficit of $5.1 billions. In other words, he rates the Truman guess as being just about 50 per cent in error in 1951. Either way the mounting deficit (without any compelling emergency) is more than even our great government can stand for long. I have repeatedly pointed out that on the basis of Truman's estimate we are running in the red at the rate of $16,000,000 per day. That figure, according to Sen. George's statement, should be revised upward to more than $20,000,000.

August 18th last year I addressed the house on the subject of the tragic, if not fatal, blunders we made in China. Here are some paragraphs of that speech.

"So far as the power of the atomic bomb is concerned, I say with all seriousness that in the eventual balancing of accounts the fall of China may prove to be more decisive than the atomic bomb.

"There are many shrouded mysteries as to exactly what has happened to China and to exactly why it has fallen into the hands of organized communism. In the white paper the fact is excused but the mysteries are not explained."

That statements was made 8 months ago. We have lately been so preoccupied with war threats and events in Europe that most people have overlooked the more important activities in the far-eastern ring of the world circus. We have not yet been told why that drama ended as it did with the fall of China to the communists.

One thing likely will be established by the present senate committee investigation of communist leanings of people connected with the state department. The finger of well-founded suspicion of communist sympathy, if not worse, is going to be pointed at certain individuals who had a great deal to do with shaping our China policy. This, at least, will serve the purpose of partly explaining the mystery as to why our government did what it did in China. That story is too long to tell here but I shall be glad to send a copy of my speech, in which it is related in detail, to anyone who wants it.

ANSWERS TO EVERYDAY INSURANCE PROBLEMS*
BY PETE LESMEISTER

Question: Could you tell me if there is any form of insurance which will reimburse an owner for loss of rental income in case a leased property is damaged by fire? Also if there is such insurance, is it a part of a regular fire insurance coverage or is it a separate policy?

Answer: Yes, you can obtain insurance against loss of rental income because of fire damage to rental property. This insurance may be added to your regular insurance policy and you will pay a small additional premium.

*If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there'll be no charge or obligation of any kind.
