

LANGLOIS NEWS

By Nancy Moore

Smelling like they had been thoroughly smoked, 13 boys from the local Boy Scout troop and their leader, Archie Aldropp, returned Sunday from an overnight camping trip at Willow Creek. This was the first trip made by the boys since the recent organization of the troop. There were no casualties beyond a little burned bacon. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Horn were shopping at Coos Bay Saturday. Mrs. Clarence Hagen, of Kerby and Mrs. Ted Cadman and sons, Mark and Eddie, of Coquille were dinner guests at the H. S. Cadman home, Sunday.

John Moore and Vernon McLennan have leased the Phillips service station. They took possession May 1. Mr. McLennan is the mechanic and Mr. Moore will handle the pumps. J. A. Phillips will soon resume his logging operations.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Hatmaker and six children of Grants Pass moved to Langlois during the past week. Mrs. Hatmaker is a sister of Dick Tucker and Mr. Hatmaker is employed at the Tucker mill. One daughter is attending grade school.

Eleven members of the Sixes Grange accompanied 13 juvenile Grangers to McKinley where the group visited Grange, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Starkvedt of Eastside were visitors at the Frank Moore home, Sunday.

Arlene Buckles of Selma came to Langlois last week to stay with her sister, Mrs. Dolaras Brooks. She is now working at crab picking at Port Orford.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Moore, daughter Carolyn, of Salem, visited the O. L. Moore and Frank Moore families Saturday and Sunday of last week. Gordon is assistant district attorney for Marion County.

Floras-Willow Women's club met at the home of Mrs. Roberta Whereat last Thursday. Ladies received an invitation to attend the May Day Style Show which will be given by the Bandon Women's Club May 1. Several went to the affair. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Elsie Quinn and the ladies will make preparations for the dinner which the club will serve the Coos-Curry Historical society at a date to be announced.

Speed Anderson, Langlois boy, is member of Bandon high school band. This band was voted outstanding in southwestern Oregon and is now panning to go to the state contest at Eugene May 5. Besides paying the bass horn, Speed is the accompanist to Bill Brown, the solo trombonist. He was heard over KWRO, Coquille, Friday when he played several piano solos. Saturday Speed accompanied Irene Cedarquist's students and performed an act of his own which was called "Impersonations of Piano Artists," at a program given for the benefit of a Coquille community swimming pool.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Langlois Panthers lost to the Brookings Bruins at baseball last Thursday on the local field, by a 24 to 3 score.

High school student body will present the three-act play, "Million Dollar Cook," next Friday night, May 5, at the gym.

Returning from their Sneak Day last Sunday afternoon were the local seniors. They were so weary and hungry, but happy. Leaving early Friday morning the class went to Bend via Reedsport, Drain, and the Willamette Pass. They found some deep snow along the pass and spent about an hour throwing snowballs, making snowmen and taking pictures of the scenic attractions—especially the beautiful Salt Creek falls. They arrived at Bend Friday evening to stay at the attractive Pilot Butte Inn that night. Arising early the next morning they visited Peterson Rock Gardens, went to top of Pilot Butte, and got lost in the maze of side roads that led to ice caves, lava caves, wind caves, et. They came across a game preserve where they saw more deer than they knew existed. By driving fairly late Saturday night they arrived at Klamath Falls Saturday night, where they stayed at another deluxe hotel. Some of them—the more intelligent ones—went to bed about ten while the others went to a midnight show. After a very few hours sleep, they rose again for their homeward journey. They went over the Green Springs highway and to Grants Pass where they ate a picnic lunch in the city park. Then they returned to Langlois via Coos Junction and Coquille. Arriving home about 5 o'clock, they were ready to sleep for a week but had to get up and go to school Monday morning. Seniors would like to take this opportunity to thank Mrs. Vera Cadman who acted as chaperone.

U. of O. Students Present Recital

PORT ORFORD—A large and enthusiastic audience welcomed the five musicians and instructor-accompanist at the concert given here last week by the University of Oregon school of music. Many were the comments following.

An informal reception was held after the musicale at the Castaway lodge where the group stayed during their stop-over here. Some thirty-odd enjoyed coffee and cake and the group sang old favorites, led by the students.

This was the second annual musical program sponsored by the Treble Clef chorus and their director, Mrs. Evelyn Lyle. Much credit goes to her and those who assisted with the planning and the smoothness with which the affair went off, and the enthusiasm shown by the community.

All proceeds above expenses were turned over to the school band to be applied toward purchase of additional instruments.

- The program:
1. First Movement (Allegro) Concerto No. 4, Mozart; Meditation from Thais, by Ellen Liebe, violinist.
 2. Conveni partis, by Donizetti, Love's a Merchant by Carew, Tell Me, Oh blue Sky by Kianini, Love's Philosophy by Quilter, Sweet Song of Long Ago by Charles. Mary Hawkins, soprano.
 3. Premiere Rhapsodie, by De

Bussy Un Serieu and On Sentimental by Departes, Dancing Doll by Poldini, Carl Gutmann, clarinetist.

4. None But the Lonely Heart by Tchaikowsky, Song of the Open Road by Malotte, Tommy, Lad by Margetson, Sometimes by Walther, Mah Lindy Lou, Phill Green, baritone.

5. Poems of the Sea "Waves," "Chanty", and "At Sea" by Block—Madelon Adler, pianist.

6. Bird Songs at Eventide by Coates, The song of Songs by Moya, My Hero (from the Chocolate Soldier) by Straus. Miss Hawkins and Mr. Green.
