

Political Pot Boils; Hoover On "Fire"

The Capital Press, a weekly newspaper, published at Salem, forwarded to the Pilot this week proof of an editorial which appeared in Oregon Statesman, at Salem, a newspaper, published by Charles A. Sprague, former governor of Oregon. The letter follows:

Editor: we are forwarding to you under sperate cover a mat of the Los Angeles registration of Dave Hoover and proof of an editorial published thereon in the Sunday Daily Statesman.

As a candidate against U. S. Senator Wayne L. Morse, Hoover is now parading as "A Real Republican."

In exposing this political fraud, ex-Governor Charles A. Sprague, publisher of the Statesman, has rendered a signal service to the public.

As a public service, the Capital Press is publishing the mat and editorial in this week's issue.

We feel you will want to do the same.

The editorial as appeared in the statesman:

Who is the "Real Republican?"

Dave Hoover's claim to the title of "real Republican" is under some challenge. On this page appears a certified copy of Hoover's registration record in California. He registered in 1939 in Los Angeles county but refused to give any party affiliation. The clerk accordingly filled in the party blank thus: "Declines to state." That was how Hoover felt in 1939, unwilling to identify what party he would enroll in, although the new deal which he now denounces was still in command in Washington. After Hoover came to Oregon in 1942 he registered as a Republican, and now poses as the truest of the breed as he makes his race for United States senator.

Hoover's party pedigree is under challenge from another source. John McBride, his little known opponent along with Wayne Morse, also uses "real Republican" on his literature as applying to himself. And he asserts that Hoover was a democrat until 1933.

We are not very rigid on party reguaritl — "While the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return." We would like to convert other Democrats or others who "decline to state" their party affiliation to the Republican faith. It does irk us though when late converts start drawing up rules of orthodoxy and "churching" those with whom they disagree.

With two men claiming to be the "real" Republicans the handle is being overworked. We like much better the representation made by a legislative candidate who refers to himself as a "realistic" Republican. Morse is one. And Republican voters better be realistic if they want their party to gain in public favor.—Oregon Statesman.

Chetco River Bar Claims Man, Fri.

A boat, manned by Harry Bobb and Henry Grimes of Smith River, was capsized Friday afternoon while trying to enter the mouth of the Chetco River, resulting in the drowning of Bobb.

Grimes was picked up about an hour later, hanging onto the capsized boat, about three-quarters of a mile off shore.

Lawrence Payne and Archie McVay rode a boat out from the beach, saving Grimes. The rescue boat was within 75 feet of the capsized craft, when Bobb slipped off and was no longer seen. The body has not been located at the time of publication.

This is another of many deaths caused by the breakers at the mouth of the Chetco. Before the last war, Congress approved the construction of jetties which, if done, would make this river safe for navigation.

As yet, the funds have not been allocated to do the job. If this jetty work were done, the Chetco would become a safe haven for an small craft caught out in rough seas on the local shore. "We hope that Bobb's death will not be in vain, and that the powers that be will see that the appropriation be made so that no more lives will be lost here," bystanders who witnessed the affair told the Pilot.
