Novelty Arrangements: 1. Frances Autrey, 2. Linda Guerin, 3. Marion Brooks.

Centerpieces: 1. Wanda Volck, 2. Esie Crew, 3. Roberta Whereat

Wild Flowers: 1. Roberta Whereat, 2. Frances Autrey, 3. Roger Stankavich.

This show is an annual affair sponsored by Floras-Willow club, and attracts a great many visitors from other communities. No matter how dry or unfavorable the weather may seem to be there are always quantities of beautiful fragrant blossoms to see; and the clever and tasteful arrangements are delightful.

Floyd Hale, who is employed at Langlois cheese factory, underwent an appendectomy at Kaiser Hospital, Aug. 1. He came home Aug. 4, and will be able to return to work soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hensley returned from Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 1. They had attended the funeral of Mr. Hensley's father.

Roy Walters, who had ribs broken in an auto mishap, about two weeks ago, is improving slowly.

Al Volck, who was taken ill while on a vacation trip to Utah his summer, is recovering nicely at his home here.

Langlois grade school building has been improved this summer. Charles Button was granted the contract to enclose a porch and make therefrom a principal's office and a janitor's supply room. A telephone is to be installed. Aiding him are Messrs. Autrey and Siewell. School days are approaching and the list of grade school teachers is complete: Principal, Donna Churchill; D. F. Mitchell, Elna Rigik, Ruth Murphy and Eva Donaldson.

Jacob White was taken to Leep hospital, Bandon, Aug. 2, for medical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Brooks, Kenneth Thompson and Joe Sabin attended the Rodeo and Fair Board meeting at Gold Beach, Aug. 1. The time was spent planning the rodeo chiefly. Prospects are for a bigger and better show with good prizes to be given as incentives for entering.

Mrs. Barbara Tucker of Selma, mother of R. T. Tucker, and Inez Hatmaker returned home July 31 after visiting her children here.

Langlois Boy Scouts spent another wonderful week-end, as Archie Aldropp and Mr. Stedden took them up Sixes river for an overnight camping trip.

The C. H. Brooks are anticipating a happy time when their one-month-old granddaughter and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tucker, of Wendover, Utah, arrive. The Tuckers with their baby daughter and two other children are expected soon.

Mr. Autrey and Mr. Siewell are still laughing about the string of cars that followed them into the grade school grounds one morning last week. The highway surfacing crew was at work on the highway through Langlois and at intervals a lead car conducted the accumulated line-up of vehicles over the finished end of the work. The two men mentioned were going to their work, got into one such lineup and turned off at the school grounds as usual. The remainder of the line followed them in and then wondered what had become of the lead car.

Langlois is pleased with the improvement in the surface of the highway through town.

Eugene Button, who has been re-visiting the scenes of his boyhood here with his brother Chas. of Denmark, has returned to his home at Portland. The two brothers attended the historical society picnic at Coquille. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Miller who live near Gold Beach spent the day with Mrs. Chas. Button, who is Mrs. Miller's mother.

The Quinns and the Robisons have enjoyed several short trips recently as part of their vacation from work, at the store at Denmark. Mr. and Mrs. Robison and granddaughter, Jean Quinn, spent several days last week fishing and visiting the Fred Bessey family at Ophir. Last week-end Mr. and Mrs. Quinn, daughter, Jean, and Eula Mastropolitano made the Roseburg-Grants Pass-Crescent City loop. They visited the Oregon Vortex, Jacksonville and the Oregon Caves.

Realty Transfers

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Aldrich have sold their newly-built house to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Luckovich. The Aldrichs are planning a new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mikesell have purchased the Homer Brown property in Brookings.

These sales were handled by the C. O. and L. L. Leonard Real Estate Agency.

Realty Transfers

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Collis have sold their new duplex near the ocean front off Arnold Lane to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Berney of Portland. Mr. Berney is one of the owners of the Brookings Lumber and Remanufacturing Co. on Easy Street, formerly the Gadberry & Campbell planing mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bordwell, of Sandy, Ore., are arranging for the purchase of the C. F. Campbell home and acreage on Pioneer Road and are expected to take possession soon. Both transactions were handled by Bob Perkins of the Pete Lesmeister Agency.
