

Brookings-Harbor Pilot

Nowhere a Finer Climate — Nowhere A Finer Community

VOLUME FIVE, NUMBER XXVII.

BROOKINGS, CURRY COUNTY, OREGON

THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1950

CURRY CO. FAIR LISTS PROGRAM FOR GALA WEEK-END FOR VISITORS

"Friday is Kiddies' Day" at Curry County Fair, set for this week-end at Gold Beach. The young fry will have a chance to compete on best costumes, on best character portrayal, best musical group or individual, the best decorated pet, best decorated bicycle, tricycle doll buggy or coaster wagon.

The program for the fair, in brief form, will consist of:

FRIDAY

9 a. m. 4-H cake baking contest. Bread Baking contest.

10 a. m. Crops judging, cattle judging, poultry judging at 11.

At 1 p. m. home economics exhibit judging will be made, and at the same hour the kiddies parade will start at the court house and will be followed by livestock judging. 4-H garden judging is also set for the same hour.

At 2:30 the 4-H showmanship contest will be held in front of the grandstand at the fair.

4:00 is the time set for the 4-H muffin baking contest and other 4-H demonstrations.

SATURDAY

At 9:00 the Dollar dinner contest will begin and other demonstrations. At 9:30 the horse show and judging will take place.

At 1:00 the Rodeo parade begins at the court house. At 2:00 the style revue will be staged and the crowning of the queen will take place in front of the grandstand. Patching and darning contests will be followed by home economics judging contest.

Races will be held each day in the arena in front of the fair grandstands.

A feature of the fair will be the entertainment furnished by Charles Jensen of Langlois, noted band man, who will play the Hammond electric organ.

Mrs. Aldine Aho, former Curry county agent and Mrs. May Matthews, Roseburg, will judge the 4-H economics exhibits and contests, held at the mess hall.

Billed to enter the muffin baking contest are Ruth Ann Porish, Joan Wolf, Marcial Bauer, Barbara Fendrick, Dolores Moore, and Helen Donoca. In cake baking contest: Vesper Bailor, Deanna Churchill, Glenda Holycross, Eudora Moore, Iris Robbins, Dorothy Wigle, Saralee Wolf, Sharon Jerrett, and Janice Burns.

Saturday at the demonstrations there will be Joan Melville, Joan Gardner, Joan Wolf, Ruth Ann Porish, Saralee Wolf, Wianna Schroeder, Janis Lever, Dianna Melville, Patricia Kerber, Darlene Gilfillan, Judie Morris, Marcia Koon, Vesper Bailor, Joan Perkins, Stephen Ganong, and Tommie Remy.

In the style revue: Faye Rausch, Betty Chadsey, Deanna Churchill, Irene Sipher, Glenda Holycross, Iris Robbins, Erma Hull and Elaine LeClair.

Scout Pony Will Be Given Monday

A 2-year-old pony, donated to the scout group of this area to add impetus to the campaign for raising funds to build a scout shack on Wharf Street, is to be given away next Monday, local scout authorities reveal.

Those having tickets are asked to turn them in by Sunday, either to Mike Page or to Warren Nixon, says the advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

Confectionery Will Serve School Youth

Something new in this community will be the new confectionery-lunch room, now under construction across from the new grade school building.

Set to open about a week after school starts, the building is being erected by C. A. MacKenzie, who had added many modernistic touches in the construction. A fireplace will warm the youngsters who patronize the establishment. Mr. MacKenzie has not announced the manager at the moment, but has provided a spacious and attractive apartment in the rear of the building for the people who are placed in that trust.

"We want to serve a low-cost hot dish for the youngsters, to supplement their cold lunch," it was pointed out by Mr. MacKenzie in telling of the project.

State Fair Starts On "Labor Day"

SALEM—Oregon State Fair will open Labor Day, a custom long since established, when the people of all Oregon will come with their prize-winning displays of crops, handiwork or products.

To take their prize-winners to the state, most counties hold the local fairs beforehand so that these same exhibits may be sent to Salem to compete with other counties. The fair in Oregon is one of the union's greatest show-places of the continent, claims have been made.

There's An Art To Outdoor Cookery

When family and friends tire of the overworked "hot dog", so singed over the open fire, they may obtain more imaginative menus from their county home demonstration agent, suggests Miss Dorothy Newton, county demonstration agent. Home demonstration agents recently returned to their counties from attending an outdoor cookery demonstration under direction of Mrs. Agnes M. Kolshorn, nutrition specialist, which opened the 1950 training conference for home demonstration agents.

A few of the interesting dishes prepared included Kabobs, planked salmon, corn baked in husks, potatoes steamed in a pail, cherry camp cobbler, vegetables steamed in aluminum foil and spice cake baked on a reflector oven.

Kabobs are tender cuts of beef or lamb cut into 1½ to 2 inch squares about half inch thick. These are run on a sharpened green stick alternately with bacon and onion slices leaving a little space between so heat can penetrate. Kabobs are roasted over coals. They may be dipped in barbecue sauce while roasting. After the meat is almost done, the Kabob may be wrapped spirally with ¼-inch wide strips of biscuit dough.

When father proudly lugs home a salmon, it's an occasion to serve the prize on a plank. After the backbone is taken out, the salmon is split in halves and nailed skin down to a hardwood plank with strips of bacon going crosswise. Large headed aluminum nails work best. The plank, about a foot longer and wider than the fish, should be soaked under water over night to prevent scorching before the fire. The planked salmon is leaned against a block of wood or other support at the edge of a medium fire. When about half done, the plank is reversed so that the upper part lies next to the ground.

Fresh corn can be baked in husks. The silk is removed and cobs are tied. Then the corn is soaked in water for a half hour and rolled in wet newspapers or foil. Corn requires about 45 minutes on top of coals to steam.

Avalow J. Keeler, electrical contractor of Berkeley, Calif., was a guest of Brookings Rotary Club, Tuesday.

SCHOOLS START TUESDAY, SEPT. 5; BUS SCHEDULES REMAIN SAME TIME

Tuesday morning, Sept. 5, will see Brookings schools, both elementary and high, in operation.

School buses will operate Tuesday morning at approximately the same schedule as when school closed last spring. Tuesday the buses will arrive at the school at 8:50 and will return at 11:15, so it will not be necessary for pupils to bring a lunch. The remainder of the week, buses will arrive at 8:50 and return at 4:05. If anyone is in doubt as to when to meet the bus on the first day ask some neighbor, or wait for the bus with some neighbor's child, who attended last year.

Up to Tuesday noon, 11 high school students, 26 elementary pupils from the 2nd to eighth and 26 beginners had registered. Of this number all except 14 beginners were not registered at school last spring.

Again it is urged that all beginning pupils, all transfers from other schools, and all high school students register this week if they have already done so.

Pupils may register at the high school office from 10 to 12, and 2 to 4:30 August 31 and Sept. 1. Both elementary and high school pupils to register at the high school office. Parents of beginning pupils should bring the child's birth certificate.

Total registration for 1950-51 will be released next week.

Crump Named Director

Harold Crump was appointed by Georgia Fromm, county superintendent, as director, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Warren Smith.

Co. 4-Her Voted Best In '50 Camp

GOLD BEACH—George Wasson, 15, Pistol River, chosen outstanding Bay Citizen at 4-H camp Myrtlewood, was presented with the Bachelor Citizenship cup, on Aug. 12.

From Aug. 8 to 12, 100 4-H club members from Coos, Curry and DoDuglas counties camped at Rock Creek, three miles up from Bridge, Oregon.

Betty Chadsey, Gold Beach, assisted Miss Dorothy Newton to teach leather, tooling and coppercraft.

Other 4-H members from Curry county were Dorothy Wigle and Margaret Fain, Four Mile; Deanna Churchill and David Barklow, Langlois; Deanne and Walter Schroeder, Sharon Jarrett, Ruth Ann Parrish, Joan Wolfe and Johnny Hughest, of Gold Beach.

Guns Stolen At Hanscams, Sat.

For the third time in about year and a half, E. E. Hanscam & Sonss store was victimized by burglars, sometime Saturday evening. Entrance was gained by breaking a window on the south side.

Missing, according to Merle Hanscam, are six .22 calibre rifles, two 30-30 rifles and two shotguns, aggregating about $500 in value. Authorities were notified, and a lookout will be kept for these if any are put up for sale anywhere.

Last winter someone, immediately after noon hour, when the force was busy, walked into the office and made away with several hundred dollars in currency kept in the safe to cash local payroll checks.

The first robbery was gained by breaking the window of the front, which is not lighted to any great extent.

Raymond Gallagher who spent the last two months at Los Angeles, returned home last week. While away he was guest of Pres. Hirsch of Beaumont Movie Co., Hollywood, and Paul Ingram, manager of Bendix Aircraft Co. Mr. Gallagher was in the movies himself a few years ago. He has lived here for the past few years.

Veterans Given Preference, Says White Rock Man

"Oregon veterans will be given preference," said Mr. Davis, designer of the "Redwood Home of the Future," in a conversation with the Pilot, Tuesday evening, while placing an advertisement to that effect in the Pilot. "The state V. A. office gave the okay to H. A. Sanders at Salem, on Tuesday, and telephoned me immediately."

In answer to the question: "Have many people visited this new home?" Mr. Davis said that since Sunday morning, August 20, when open house was held, more than 2000 people had been through it and had inspected the structure with the most critical eye. Everyone voiced their appreciation of its value, Mr. Davis asserted, and said that many of the 2000 were certainly prospects with a capital "P".

Mr. Davis has been trying, between visitors, to draw plans for the remaining models the company expects to market as the different models. He has been forced to work late at nights in order to get any work accomplished.

These homes, pre-cut from the Crag Lumber Co. redwood, are to be sold in five models, which may be altered to suit the individual to certain extent, and will be erected in from four to six days, depending upon the size of the house. The cost quoted includes the plumbing, bathroom, range, water heater, refrigerator and all built-ins.

Pete J. Lesmeister Agency in Brookings is representing the company in southern Curry. A representative will be if not already, be appointed for each community between Klamath and Gold Beach.

Rotarians Will Aid Gold Beach Club In Initial Work

As sponsor club, Brookings Rotarians will go again to Gold Beach, next Wednesday evening, then to help the newly-formed Rotary club with its organization, and initial meeting, with thought to be given to charter night—which will be determined by the granting of the charter by Rotary International.

Reports coming here Monday, indicate that about 30 members will be taken into the great service organization, in the newest club in District 154. Expected at the charter night festivities are members from every club in the the district, 38 in number. The sponsor club will likely send its entire membership to the event. Gold Beach club members, if the usual holds true, can prepare for at least 300 Rotarians and wives for the night.

Don Cate, Rotary Fellow, who studied at Berne, Switzerland, is likely to be one of the principal speakers, if the night can be arranged toward the end of the week to permit him to come. He will give the crowd some inside information on Europe, and the prospects for the future in that part of the world.

Special entertainment will be furnished by the Brookings Rotarians, which may include a quartet, and some specialty acts if Mr. and Mrs. Perkins will be home about that time.