Parade of Quartet Will Be "Event" Of Oct. 28 and 29

Music, the kind that made the gay '90s lots gayer, will be the treat in store for people of this area, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 28 and 29, when a "Parade of Quartets" will be held by Brookings Chapter, 675, SPEBSQSA.

Big name quartets will be here to pour out "sweet" music as interpreted by the various quartets. Perhaps all the favorites of more than a half century ago will be given the modern twist and tempo.

Among the sought quartets by the local chapter will be four from Eugene, one from Forest Grove, the House Bros. of the Klamath Falls chapter, and the possibility of the Queen City Four, of Seattle, national champions. It still is a question about the appearance of this famous group, but the local chapter of Barbershoppers is trying to find ways and means to bring the group.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion will be Al Pearce, noted radio M. C., who had charge of a like event at Klamath Falls several months ago. Pearce is expected to be one of the big attractions of the event. Tickets will be put on sale with a week or ten days, the Pilot was assured late last week.

Pictures Sought To Publish In "Pilot"

Pictures, which have plenty of "contrast" that quality of a view which shows contrasting lights and darks, are sought by the Pilot in connection with all news stories such as weddings, affairs of community nature, such as political rallies, etc.

In addition to this service, the Pilot and Typo-Print have photo-offset facilities, thus enabling the firm to illustrate any printing for any customer.

Correspondents of the Pilot, by this announcement, are urged to send the pictures of any nature which will help their news. This holds true of school functions.

Pictures must be glossy print, of any size not under 3x5 inches. Mail these to W. D. Sibley, Gold Beach several days in advance of publication date expected to appear.

Power Outage Delays Press Time

From some unknown reason, on the COPCO system in California, power was off for about an hour Wednesday morning. The outage, on press day at the Pilot, delayed the edition a few hours. George Rush was unable to tell the Pilot where the outage originated.

Work on the new Redfield's Grocery is progressing as rapidly as possible. A roof soon will keep rains from the workmen as the interior work is completed.

Andersons Return To Old Home at Baker

Mr. and Mrs. Jens Anderson, who have lived in this area for almost three years, left Wednesday morning for Baker, their former home, to live. Mr. Nelson, who had to leave that high altitude because of health, said he felt much better, and since their property was at Baker, they felt obligated to return there.

"If, after I get there, and find that my old ailment returns, I believe we will sell, and certainly return to Brookings. I do want you to send the Pilot."

School Boards Will Hold Confab Oct. 12 at S. O. C. E.

Oregon School Boards' Association, to which all school board members and clerks belong, has planned a series of regional meetings this fall for its members, it has been revealed by Georgia Fromm, county superintendent. The three colleges of education form the nuclei for these gatherings. They have helped, with the advice of local board members and school officials, to set up programs which meet the needs, and be profitable, to school boards and clerks over the state.

School board members and clerks of Lake, Deschutes, Klamath, Jackson, Josephine, Douglas, Coos and Curry counties are invited to attend the meeting to be held on the Southern Oregon College of Education campus, on Thursday, Oct. 12.

A brief summary of the program, as released:

William Healy speaking: 1. What are the duties of the school board in public relations. 2. Community councils on education, organization and function. 3. Responsibility of the school board toward needed legislation.

On Finance, Rex Putnam: 1. The School Budget. 2. State Aid and Childrens bill, as well as state obligation bond issue. 3. What kind of insurance program will provide adequate protection. 4. Federal-State-local relationships in Education and how much should education cost.

In the afternoon H. L. Skirvin of Harrisburg, will talk on: 1. Relations between school board and superintendent. 2. Relations between the school board and teaching staff. 3. Policies, procedures and records of school boards. 4. How new school board members can best learn their job and task.

It is expected a number of the local board members will attend this meeting.

New Headquarters Opening Saturday

COQUILLE—Grand opening of the new headquarters of Coos-Curry Electric Co-operative is announced by the officials for Saturday, Oct. 7 from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Refreshments will be served, according to an announcement appearing on page 12 of this issue.

Rotary Governor Will Visit Club At Oct. 10 Meeting

Joe P. Breckel, district governor of Dist. No. 154, Rotary International, of Vancouver, Wash., will pay his official visit to the Rotary Club of Brookings, Tuesday, Oct. 10, it was announced this week.

Joseph P. Breckel

Gov. and Mrs. Breckel will arrive here Monday. Tuesday, 10 to 12 will meet with committees of the club at Vincent's. It is urged that all members, especially all committeemen be on hand with reports made out in triplicate.

Governor Breckel will be the speaker at the Tuesday noon luncheon. Gold Beach provisional officers and members are also invited to be present if they wish.

Pilot Will Become County-Wide Paper

Application is being mailed to the post office department this week, asking change of name of "Brookings-Harbor Pilot" to "Curry County Pilot," a move long planned by the management.

Since its inaugural issue, Mar. 1946, the Pilot has gained in circulation to a point it has the greatest coverage in southwest Oregon, but many of the residents of northern Curry county prefer that they subscribe to a county paper, than to one published for interest of a single community.

Coming with this announcement of name change, is the announcement that the Pilot, in conjunction with its Gold Beach office, the Typo-Print, has complete photo-engraving facilities, enabling this publication to carry pictures each week, of those items which may be enhanced by pictures.

There were many would-be hunters in this area at the start of hunting season Saturday who found that the supply of deer tags from the state game commission hadn't been received by the local hunting license dealers. The tags arrived on the Monday mail, but that didn't help those who wanted to go out during the week-end.

Bill West Plans To Enter Bible School, Portland

Bill West told the Pilot Tuesday that he was going to rent his home here, preparatory to leaving soon for Portland where he will enter Bible school to prepare himself for the ministry.

Active in church work while here, Bill was seriously injured several months ago in a timber accident, and for a time his life was hanging in the balance. He has been unable to work since.

Shell Oil Pictures Shown Rotarians At Luncheon, Tues.

Through the Shell Oil Company, Homer Haggerty, program chairman, pictures depicting the gigantic task of transporting oil pipe line from the southwestern Texas area to the industrial mid-west, were shown Tuesday noon at Rotary luncheon.

All steps, from the manufacture of the pipe, to the expensive job of laying the line, were graphically shown.

This pipeline, when completed, pumps 35,000 gallons per minute from source to destination, savings in freight alone to pay the enormous cost of some sixty million dollars.

Gold Beach Man Present

Fred Starkweather, Gold Beach attorney was a guest of Merle Hanscam at the luncheon.

Mr. Phillips, of Phillips Clothing, a newcomer to the area, was inducted in the club as a new member.

Plans were made for committee reports to be handed to the governor on his visit next Tuesday from 10 to 12 a. m. The governor is making his official visit at that time.

Harbor News Will Aid Gold Beach In Transportation

GOLD BEACH—This town is rejoicing over the report of the corps of engineers recommending harbor improvements at mouth of the Rogue river was received. Rogue Development Association, organized two years ago, immediately prepared to take up all details of the local co-operation and to obtain easements.

Little difficulty is expected in obtaining these easements for initial construction and soil areas as will be required, as practically all land that would be required is owned by people who are vitally interested in getting the harbor work under way.

Operation of the harbor here will mean an estimated saving of at least $4 a thousand feet on lumber and logs shipped out of truck haul, as well as making available much of the lower lumber grades which at present are not worth the long and costly trucking.

Charles Hasset Ordered Back To U. S. M. C. Service

SEATTLE—Recently called to active duty, Sgt. Charles T. Hasset, of Brookings, a member of the Marine Corps reserve, left Saturday for California to undergo intensive training at a Marine base. He is one of a large number of marine reserves to be mobilized to meet the present emergency.

Men from Washington, Idaho, and Montana are arriving at Seattle daily for physical examination and processing. Many seasoned leathernecks with several years combat experience in World War 2 are once again donning uniforms. They will be sent to Camp Joseph H. Pendleton, giant Marine Training base at Oceanside, Calif., for refresher training. Reservists without any previous military experience will go through boot camp at the San Diego recruit depot. Men with aviation classifications will be ordered to the Marine Air Station at El Toro.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hasset, Charles is married, and father of one child. Last year he attended University of Washington, majoring in meteorology. He had 28 months service in the marine corps in the Pacific, participating in the Philippine campaign. His wife will remain in Brookings.

Highway Building Slows Traffic Here

Highway construction north from the state line has presented a new situation for residents of the area, especially those living along Hwy 101.

While traffic lanes are kept open, many drivers of the late model cars find themselves in spots when the axles and differentials drag the ground.

People getting mail on the star route have another problem. Many times the carrier is unable to reach the box, and since his schedule is set by the clock, some may miss their regular mail unless the people watch and meet the carrier.

VFW Will Dedicate Building, Oct. 15

October 15 has been set as the date for dedication of the local VFW Hall built about two years ago mostly by volunteer labor, from a building bought at Camp White, Medford.

State leaders of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary, R. L. Henderson and Mrs. Marie Dana, both of Portland, will officiate at the ceremonies. The program will start at 1:30 p. m.

This building, estimated to be worth about $15,000, is result of labors of a small group from the beginning, who donated much time toward its completion. Only a small indebtedness remains, none of which is immediately due.
