

Ellsworth Fights Rumors In State

A telephone call from Portland Wednesday morning asking that three columns by 12 inches be reserved for an Ellsworth advertisement, to be delivered on the noon bus, did not materialize, so Ellsworth did not get to reach Pilot readers with his message refuting the charge he was alleged to have made in a speech against David Shaw.

What the text of the advertisement was, the Pilot wasn't able to learn, the message asked that space be reserved, and that the advertisement would be in Brookings by the noon bus. No

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my gratitude publicly to John Darger for salvaging what was left of my belongings washed away by the flood. If anyone should find a few boats, oil drums or butane tanks, please notify me or John Darger. My losses are staggering.—AGNES WHITE.

LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Agnes White, whose trailer camp is just above Chetco river bridge, was almost bankrupt by the flood of Saturday and Sunday. Several of her boats were lost, 58 chickens, and had one of her cabins moved away from its site by the high water.

John Darger was lucky enough to save some of the things, but still are missing: boats, several oil drums and two butane tanks.

Mrs. John Mumbower and her daughter left by noon bus Wednesday for San Francisco for a few days visit.

Lois Ann Miller, freshman at Humboldt State College, Arcata, who visited her parents over the week-end, left Wednesday on the noon bus to resume her studies. High water kept busses from the highways until Wednesday.

Jack Tungate returned from a three-weeks visit at Butte Falls and Medford, last week.

George Foster arrived home Tuesday after visiting relatives at Los Angeles and San Francisco for the past two months.

For Sale: Preway oil heater; Ivanhoe oil heater; 20-gallon butane water heater. Inquire of Telephone 583, city.
