Rod & Gun Club Elects Haggerty

New officers for the coming year were elected at the regular monthly meeting of Chetco Rod & Gun club, Tuesday evening at the Club house.

Homer E. Haggerty was named president, and Robert Perkins as vice-president. L. H. Kirtley was chosen as new director to fill the expiring term of Carl Berger. Lloyd Stefani and Blaine Gribble are carry-over directors, and Virgil Goldsberry, retiring president, automatically becomes director instead of Braley Page, previous past-president.

Wesley W. Smith, who served the club efficiently as secretary-treasurer for two years, tendered his resignation as an officer due to press of other business. Pete J. Lesmeister, who had been secretary-reasurer a few years back, was elected to the office.

Due to absence of Wesley W. Smith, acting secretary Hans G. Nelson gave a comprehensive report on another successful ham and turkey shoot, held Sunday. It was pointed out that a great deal of this success was due to the large delegation from Gold Beach.

Homer Haggerty and other club members have been installing run-ways near the traps and Thursday has been designated as date for pouring concrete. Any members who are available on that date are asked to be on hand to help.
