

Along Azalea Row

By B. Miller

Here come the harbingers of spring! Gaudy with color and bright with promise, the new seed catalogs arrive with every mail. This year our flowers shall be gayer, our vegetables excel in flavor.

A garden catalog is an adventure, so embark upon it with a merry heart. Just don't over-do the ordering. Remember, you have a back—and it can ache! Remember, too, the limited garden space and limited capacity for eating.

There are some new vegetable seeds, and with food prices mounting and war seemingly imminent, the thrifty will plant for the future.

Stokes Cross tomatoes, No. 2 and No. 4 are developed for cool coastal regions. No. 2 is an early variety. No. 4 produces where other warm weather varieties fail. It is a mid-season tomato.

Oracle pea was developed for northwest commercial growers but can now be obtained in seed packets. There is a new cucumber, Surecrop, a bronze medal winner, which resists mosaic and down mildew.

Iochief corn, a gold medal winner, has the same maturing time as Golden Cross Bantam. Its ears are 9 to 10 inches long, and the stalks are heavy wind resistant.

In the world of flowers, no new rose was judged as measuring up to All-America Rose selection standards. This is the first time in ten years there has not been a winner. Here in Chetco Valley, the peace rose has won its way into our hearts. The peace rose, propagated in France, was named by the grower for his wife, Madame Meiland. When introduced into this county, it was renamed the Peace Rose. Monsieur Meiland was so affronted by this disregard of his prerogative, that he will not introduce his new improved hybrid of the Peace Rose here. We shall have to obtain it from Canada.

There are only two 1951 All America flower selections. These winners are Tutonia Torch, and Marigold Glitters.

Don't forget your old friends when carried away by the siren song of the seed catalogs. Remember the faithful blooming plants whose worth was proven by experience. Add some grey plants. Here at Weedy Acres, we are especially fond of Dusty Miller, the grey foliage is delightful with calundulas, but it is lovely as a background for any flowers.

Just six years ago to the day, January 11, Azalea Garden club was formed, and at the meeting on Thursday of this week, the club will recognize the founders and past presidents who are invited to be present as honored guests. Mrs. Harry O. Smith of Cave Junction is expected.

Mrs. Curzon MacKenzie has arranged a delightful musical program:

"One Fleeting Hour," by Mrs. Stanley Patterson with violin obligato by Mrs. Gilbert Christensen.

"Auf Wiedersehen," vocal trio—Mrs. Stanley Patterson, Mrs. Gilbert Christensen and Mrs. Curzon MacKenzie.

A short reading, a comparison of English gardens and American, by Mrs. Charles Grayshel.

And a trip down Memory Lane, with the past presidents and all charter members.

Hostesses for the afternoon are Mesdames Lyle Redfield, George Weber, Pete Lesmeister and Max Brainard.

Newly elected officers to serve Port Orford Lodge No. 170, A. F. & M., were installed Dec. 23 at the Masonic hall: W. M. Warren D. Blagdon; S. W. W. Homer Kerber; J. W., James Mastropolito; treasurer, Merle Wahl; secretary, Otto Johnson; S. D., Clarence Hines; J. D., Ollie Dobbema; S. S., J. L. Gilfillan; J. S., Cecil Bush; chaplain, Frank Morris; marshal, M. E. Kelley; tyler, E. E. Krueger. The installing officer was Maurice Kelley, with Crawford Smith as installing marshal. Attending the installation services were visitors from Seattle, California and Bandon. One of the honored guests was Robert Smith of Seattle, who is a charter member of the Port Orford lodge, and still holds his membership here. Master Dobbema of Bandon lodge, who has been promised a crab dinner when he visited here, was presented a package containing a live crab. A buffet supper was served after the meeting.

A public dance was held Dec. 30 at Sixes Grange for benefit of the building fund for a new juvenile Grange hall. At present the juvenile Grangers are using the basement of the hall and it is not satisfactory.

The Wallace family was together during the holidays. Home with their mother, Mrs. May Wallace, were sons, Rix, Weott, Calif., Bill and family of Eureka, Hugh and family of Estacada; and the daughter, Mrs. F. B. Carrothers and family of Springfield.

The Roy Hafts visited their daughter, Elene Galbraith and family at Mt. Vernon, Wash., over the holidays.

The Stowaway club held its New Years party at Castaway Lodge, with dancing and refreshments.

Mrs. Ida Baysee returned with the Tuckers for a visit, when they came home from Glendale, Ore., after Christmas. Mrs. Baysee is Mrs. Tucker's mother.

A new baby girl is the topic of importance at the Alan Corbin home, Gold Beach. The baby, born Dec. 30, has been named Alana Joan. Her mother is the former Adele Thomas of this place.

Carl Leonard is trying out for the job of high school janitor in place of Howard Goght, who has entered service. Mr. Leonard will also drive the bus in Mr. Asdel's absence.

Ollie Dobbema and Maurice Kelley attended the Shriners' East-West football game at San Francisco. Ollie states that the pageant with its dazzling colors, parades, drill teams and bands almost eclipsed the game. They had planned to go to the Rose Bowl game but were afraid they couldn't get tickets.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Scorby, North Bend, are parents of a son, born Dec. 20. His mother, former Freda Matheny, once attended the local schools. The boy has been named Donald Lynn.

Mrs. Ed Maloy is keeping her two grandchildren, Carlene and Eric, while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eckholm, Coos Bay, are on vacation.

Crab season is good, weather permitting. New Years day started off in grand style—1400 dozen were brought in. Some days the cannery must work to 8 p. m.

Mrs. Court Boice was taken to Gold Beach hospital, Christmas day and underwent minor surgery.

Sidewalks in town are taking shape, weather permitting. Geo. Churchill is finishing those for Battle Rock Garage. Larry Rick is contractor for the school walk.

GOLD BEACH

Johnny Prince arrived home Dec. 31 after spending some time in the hospital at Eugene. His health is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. George Blanchard were calling on relatives and friends last week Mrs. Blanchard is sister of Mrs. Orin Hess. The Blanchards spend most of the year in Alaska where he has his own fishing boat.

A happy and eventful New Year's eve was observed here. There was dancing at the Club Del Rogue; the Veterans dance and one held at Jerry Fendricks garage, besides the many watch parties held over town, but not an accident or trouble was reported.
