

Along Azalea Row

By B. Miller

Mrs. Katherin Rapraeger recommends Laxton's Progress peas for the vegetable garden, along the ocean. She says she had excellent success with them.

Mrs. Ruth Bathiany, a camellia fancier with seventy varieties, suggests espalier camellias. A recent visitor at the Camellia show at Berkeley, she reports this method as particularly effective. She also suggests planting camellias in redwood containers so that they may be moved about, out of the wind, and also as an added decorative feature where ever one is needed. Even when not in bloom the glossy green foliage is most attractive. Camellias are especially suitable for containers as they are slow in growth with compact root structure. It is only necessary to report them to larger containers every five years. Interesting facts about camellias are that they bloom during dormant period, and are a member of the tea family. Mrs. Bathiany recommends the February article in Sunset Magazine titled "Camellia Buyer's Guide." She is enthusiastic about the new Governor Earl Warren camellia, especially beautiful.

Our village certainly takes on the nature of a "boom" town with buildings going up everywhere, and more being planned. The new Gallagher building is nice looking, as are Dimmick's new plate glass windows which permit the passer-by to see into the store more easily. Hendrick's new furniture store has some attractive merchandise, and Brookings has become a shopping center for residents of 40 to 50 miles away. Such complete lines of merchandise bring people here, and Azalea Row is pleased that the merchants take pride in their establishments, as it marks our town as progressive and having civic pride. The new homes going up are also a great improvement over some in former years, keeping step also with progress and displaying a desire on the part of the home owner to beautify the community.

tinguishers on the market. Everyone should have several, one in the garage, and at least one in the house. We have a fine volunteer fire department and they surely get there in a hurry, but sometimes we are away from home when the fire breaks out! We are not in the business of selling fire extinguishers, but L. A. Harvey has one which is not manually operated. It is hung from the ceiling, and being glass, breaks under intense heat, releasing a liquid which becomes a gas and smothers the fire. Of course it cannot do the impossible, but I have seen what these fire extinguishers did to put out a fire in Dixon's garage a few years ago, and I wouldn't be without several of them.

Vandalism Here Irks All Citizens

Vandalism is raising its ugly head again in this area to a point where it is not safe to leave anything loose and expect it to remain so.

Mrs. Williamson, at the bakery, saw some youth drive up in a car, attempt to syphon gas from the ambulance. However, she managed to distract them, before they accomplished their mission.

Some driver, reckless or otherwise, climbed the sidewalk late Saturday, rammed the flower box in front of Redfield Grocery window and broke the glass. Black tire marks were visible on the sidewalk in front.

Mrs. Goldizen lost her purse at the office of the Pilot, Monday, as she stepped out for just a moment. Fortunately as she was leaving, she reached for her coin purse, probably on a thought she might purchase something. It is unfortunate for the thief for in this coin purse she had $75. The bag contained only a fountain pen and some small articles peculiar to a woman's bag.

People living off the main section of town long have locked their houses before leaving for many homes have been ransacked in the last several months.

Proponents for incorporation will certainly use this as an argument for speedy action.

In Appreciation
