

Brookings High Cast Will Appear At Humboldt State College, Sat., April 7

Brookings High School players, under direction of Miss Ruth Woodward, will present Howard Rogers' one-act comedy "Yes Means No," in the Humboldt State College auditorium, Saturday afternoon, April 7, as part of the fifth Annual Northwestern California Drama Festival, which is being held at the college, April 6 and 7.

The cast of this comedy will include Dick Dandis as Teddy Lawson, Henry Grootendorst as William Lawson, Shirley Bowlin, Edith Merrill, Jim Fitzhugh, T. J. Morgan and Violet Jagers as Miss Collins.

The production staff includes Edward Grootendorst, prompted; Lyle Vaughan and Kenneth Pierce, costumes; Chris Brown and George Berger, property crew; Kenneth Pierce, sound effects; and Lyle Vaughan and Kenneth Pierce, make-up crew.

This year's festival will be attended by 350 delegates from ten high schools in Humboldt, Del Norte, Trinity and Modoc counties in California and Curry County Oregon, the Arcata Community Players, Eureka Adult Recreational Theatre, the Eureka Sequoia Thespians and Humboldt State College.

H. T. James Tells Of Planned Trip

A letter to the Pilot from H. T. James, now attorney at Los Angeles, tells how the James are keeping in touch with this area through the newspaper. Included in the letter was a large advertisement for Easter. Howard was more or less 'put out' as these flowers were included in an advertisement for pots and pans, but did have consolation in the heading "World-Famous Croft Lilies".

The smog of Los Angeles was worth a couple of paragraphs in the letter, and a remark made by Mr. James leads the Pilot to believe he'd like to be here: "It is not at all uncommon downtown to see people walking along as if they were crying like a baby."

The James plan to make a trip here this summer, "if they are able to coax Mr. and Mrs. Ray Struebing for an invitation and a probable meal of the famed cooking at that house."

Their elder son is with the marines in Korea. Tommy is in the medical department of the 42nd division at Fort Benning, Ga., preparing to go to Germany.

North Fork Bridge Bids Are Called

A communication from the Forestry division office at Grants Pass reveals that sealed bids for construction of the bridge on the north fork of the Chetco will be opened April 3, at 10 at Portland, Oregon.

Information regarding the bid may be obtained from the district office, or from John Porisch, Gold Beach, if anyone is interested.

The bridge, as listed in the communication will be 164.25 feet in length.

Group Watch Big Leaguers Play, Sun.

Pete Lesmeister and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Haggerty left Saturday for Oakland where they watched exhibition games Sunday between Oakland and Cleveland, and also the New York Yankees. Lesmeister spent Easter at Fresno visiting his two daughters and their families, and to pick up Mrs. Lesmeister who had been there a few days.

The group returned late Tuesday evening.

Bowdish Visits

John Bowdish of Medford, who will be remembered for his land clearing work in this area in 1945 and 1946, Mrs. Bowdish and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowdish of Kalispell, Mont., were visitors in this area Monday.

Mr. Bowdish called on many of his old acquaintances, including the Pilot, and remarked that he was more than amazed at the progress made in the area.

He said he expected to be in the area within a few weeks to spend at least a couple of days.

They Still Talk Of Recent 'Showing'

People are still telling one another how agreeably surprised they were to find Phillips Clothing Store, the dad and lad shop, carrying such up-to-the-minute play togs and sports clothes as were displayed at the Spring Fashion Show. Hancams carry a large stock of rainwear and fishing clothes, as was displayed at the show.

Herb Parker, who modeled for Hancams found his creel full of canned salmon, from Cedar Lane Cannery, and passed it on to the audience. The community is indeed thankful for this showing—it showed them that local institutions were up-to-date in all merchandising methods.

LOCAL NEWS

Miss Larrie Robinson and her friend, Dvaine Guillardt of Portland came Saturday to spend the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Bollinger have sold a lot on Pioneer Road to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bivin; one north of Pacific Avenue, on a newly-surveyed street, to Wm. Hackney and one to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Graybar who have already started construction.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Phillips of Astoria are visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Phillips this week. Alvin expects to enter the service shortly.

More than 20 Barbershoppers attended the opening of 'The Friendship House' at Pistol River Saturday night, where they had a prominent part in the evening's program.

Clive Manley returned home last week from Bremerton where he had been for two weeks on a special refresher course given naval reserve officers. Clive is of the opinion that it is much more fun to milk his cow, and attend to his building now under construction.

People are again reminded to obtain their tickets to the Barbershop charter night program at Crescent City, Saturday night if they wish to attend. It might be too late, even now to buy any tickets at Gould's Shoe Store.
