Mothers Honored At Rotary Meeting

"Woman was last of God's creation, put on this earth for a definite purpose," said Rev. E. C. Hicks, Tuesday at Rotary luncheon at the Chetco Inn, when the program was "Honoring Mother." Mr. Hicks, rich in experience, pointed out that it was the woman's function in this world to take the germ of life, to clothe it, feed it, and bring it into the world a citizen. The first three years, he pointed out, seem to be the most important in a child's life, and it is during that period the child learns of love, feeling, vocabulary and all traits—from its mother.

"A man's life need not come from the homes of wealth, so long as the mother has the right influence. Take Lincoln for instance; for that matter, Booker T. Washington knew not his father for he was born in slavery, but his mother always told him to study, to learn.

"One cannot over-emphasize the influence of proper kind of motherhood in the world. By nature, woman loves the better and cultured things of life. She is by nature, the source of love which is instilled into mankind.

"Woman's place and kingdom is the home, if circumstances always permit. That is her field, in which she wields the greatest and best influence."

Will Take In New Members

Ten new members have been voted in by the club with hopes that all will be present next week for acceptance and induction into the club.

Albert Joy, long identified with 4-H club work, will be one of the selection committee to assist in selection of the scholarship winners. Paul Davis added another scholarship to the Rotary contribution, bringing the total of the club up to nine.
