Among citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Cease ye from many, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?" (Isa. 2:22), together with the following correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "For right reasoning there should be but one fact before the thought, namely, spiritual existence. In reality there is no other united to its unlikeness, mortal-existence, since Life cannot be it" (page 492).
