YOU MEET THE WORLD TODAY

This message is directed to the graduates of the high schools—not only of Curry county, but any who may read these words. Its intent is to congratulate you on your achievements, but also to warn you that henceforth you face the world, alone, so to speak.

Heretofore your parents have shielded you from the realities, in the home, that the world presents to you. From now on, your life will be pretty much as you make it—the outcome now depends upon your own initiative and ability. Your ability—that's what let's talk about.

What are you prepared to do? Have you developed some ability which can be turned into employment or livelihood in your years at school? Have you made any plans for the future, and have you outlined a method for achieving these?

The world is a hard task-master, graduates! It will seek you if you have ability, but it can also be cold, and oh, so heartless, if you lack it. You must produce if you wish to stay on with some business or industry, or your tenure will be so short. Give honest labor and you will find that employers can be quite human.

This message is not to tell you to enter college. Some of you have not the temperament nor inclination to go to a place which you would not be interested. However, you should learn some specialized work—the kind you like best and believe would be worth while as long as you live. Make your work command attention—and then you will find that life has a different outlook.

Your high school education, you will find, is necessary for success, but you will be disappointed soon to find how inadequately it has prepared you for life. Your next couple of years should be made productive in way of acquisition of knowledge and ability. Good luck!

WELCOME TO AZALEA FESTIVAL

This week-end, again we, in this community, welcome you to come and enjoy the annual Azalea Festival — to enjoy the almost unmatched beauty to be seen in the Azalea State park, which we take so for granted.

Azalea Festival, through unsupported efforts of All-Year Events Association, has been planned to bring you pageantry in a setting of unsurpassed beauty. You will travel all over the world never again to see beauty of such magnitude and color.

Queen Beverly I (Beverly Hill) will be a gracious sovereign at this great event—flanked on either side by other popular and beautiful young ladies who will make you proud you came. The world knows this area best for its beauty and flowers—let's exploit these fully by our attendance at Azalea Festival, May 26 and 27.

With other resources in this area, through the Azalea and Lily Blossom Time, this area has a wonderful opportunity to exploit itself, to become another great center in the industrial world as well as in a land of beauty. The future is so bright, and may be brighter if each and all of us would only lend a hand and exert some effort in its behalf, at practically no monetary cost.

Joy fills the hearts of those 4-H clubbers who, June 12 will attend summer school at OSC campus, Corvallis.

IT SEEMS TO ME:

By Dewey

Here we are, Pilot readers, on the eve of another Azalea Festival, another chance for us in this community to really show to the world what kind of people we actually are—what we believe in our community and wish the world to believe. Have you ever looked at it in that way?

Southern Curry county has no equal in the world for its floriculture—or at least match this community for beauty, climate, temperature uniformity, and a score of other facts one may be able to boast about. Somewhere in eastern Tennessee azaleas are to be found in a manner we may have here—but then you can't match the other attributes.

This area has untouched natural resources that await exploitation. This area, feeling the pinch of expansion is but beginning to grow. Have you told all your friends about that fact?

Where else can we find the outdoor attractions in such profusion? Where can you find sea and river fishing, and but a half hour to be back in the big game country? Where can you find camping facilities so easily?

We haven't taken advantage of the national publicity which has been ours for free. We seem indifferent to the national magazine articles telling of this immediate area. We are too set in our ways to wish to share it with the world when the world wants it.

Someone is losing sight of the fact that if we would only prepare to accommodate those who wish to come here, greater national exploitation would be ours for little more than the asking. Saturday and Sunday, at Azalea Festival, let us show people the beauties of this area—let us tell them what we have here to offer the settler, and point out the untouched natural resources.

Have been amazed by the uniformity of character of the people who are coming here to affiliate with Brookings Plywood Corporation. While I haven't met any ways near all of them, I did note a "pattern" shall we call it, of the calibre of the men. It bodes well for this area for these men are the kind which will build a community.

I presume the incorporators had this in mind—at least I do hope they did, for the future of any corporation depends largely upon the men who run and operate it. I predict great things for this area because of them.

This area did its part, partially at least, by voting favorably on the county-wide school levy. It is, people will find, the most economical way to carry on schools of the county.

Will Run Employment

A few weeks ago an appeal was made in this paper for some one to take responsibility of trying to locate work for the young people.

Mrs. Alice Beem has decided to try an employment agency for the young people as well as for adults at her home.

Anyone wishing odd jobs done are urged to register with her by telephone if they wish, Phone 554. Those wishing work will also wish to register.
