Hildebrand—Mermilliod

Mary Ellen Mermilliod, daughter of C. O. Mermilliod, became the bride of Richard C. Hildebrand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hildebrand, Saturday evening at Langlois Community church.

Rev. George Kmecik performed the ceremony. The bride wore an orchid suit with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. Mrs. Robert McKenzie, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a beige colored dress. William Hildebrand, brother of the groom, was best man. Mrs. LaRue Henry played the "Bridal Chorus" and the "Wedding March." Mrs. Frances Smith of Port Orford sang "Because." The young couple left soon after the ceremony for their wedding trip.

Joe Anderson Cox

Joe Anderson Cox, who passed away May 21, 1951, was born at Langlois, May 28, 1910, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cox. Joe attended Langlois schools and spent most of his life here. In June 1934, he was married to Ruth White, by whom he is survived. Other survivors are daughter, Joan; his mother, Mrs. Evaline Cox; two sisters, Mrs. Lora Woodhurst, Eugene and Mrs. Eva Everetts, Klamath Falls; brother Seth Cox of North Bend. Preceding him in death were his father, two brothers and a sister.

Graveside services were conducted Thursday under direction of Schroeder Mortuary at the Denmark cemetery, Rev. George Kmecik officiating.

Wednesday, May 23, was night that 18 graduates of Langlois grade school were given their diplomas. Program was: Processional by band; invocation, Rev. Barker; welcome, Deanna Churchill; motto, Dorothy Wigle; "I Would Be True," class; Class history, members of the class; "Bells of St. Mary's" by Margaret Fain; student speaker, Frank Moore; will, Barbara Medlock; main speaker, Clarence Brooks; prophecy, Irene Sypher; gift to seventh grade, Fred Robbins; gift to the eighth grade, Jean Sypher; awarding of diplomas, Mr. Waterman; farewell, Ethel Sypher; "So Long," class; recessional, by band.

Mrs. Charles Caughell was a very busy woman last week. She went to a home show at Portland to buy some furniture, got intrigued with a new house, outbid the others, and wound up buying a fine new abode. She made arrangements to have the three-bedroom Western style ranch house dismantled, moved to their farm here, and reconstructed. When that is all accomplished she and Charley and their three sons, Clinton, Harold, and Jerry, can settle down and enjoy it.

The next meeting of Northern Curry Livestock club will be held at Carl Britton's home June 24. It will be a picnic meeting and members are to bring their calves and practice showing them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. (Jap) Youkum returned home Tuesday, May 21, from a trip to Sacramento valley. Mr. Youkum says, "From the rain standpoint Langlois comes first. For Beauty—Gridley on Feather River, in California, and Ashland, Ore., would have to compete for second and third."

Mrs. May Hollingsworth of Newberg and Omer Moore of Tualatin are visiting their brothers, O. L. and Frank Moore over the week-end.

Eight seniors marched down a candlelighted aisle to receive their diplomas last Tuesday night. The program: Processional, Mrs. LaRue Henry; invocation, Rev. W. W. Winquist; salutatory address, Arthur Sypher; music by band; Valedictory, Donna Hofess; address, Dr. M. R. Kennedy; presentation of diplomas, H. S. Cadman; benediction, Rev. Winquist; recessional.

Members of the class: Pauline Anderson, Bertie Britton, Morene Bruchler, Donna Hofess, Beverly Mermilliod McKenzie, Bill Storm, Darrell Price and Arthur Sypher. A diploma was also presented to the mother of Floyd Brown, who finished his high school education while in the U. S. army.

LOCAL NEWS

Ed F. Ackley, local attorney, will leave Tuesday, June 5, for California point. He will appear for local citizens who have litigations pending in the courts of San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Barbara. Ackley expects to be back about Monday, June 18.

New Ambulance Arrived In Town

Approximately $1000 has been donated toward the cost of the new ambulance, which arrived in town late last week, but $1500 more need to be raised to pay the balance and cost of installing equipment.

Paul Davis of Davis Truck & Tractor, furnished the International panel at cost, which will be about $2500.

Donations may be left with V. A. Mendenhall Sr. at Brookings Electric and Radio. Unless more funds are forthcoming within the next few days, Mendenhall says a canvass will be made personally of everyone in the area.

The Mendenhalls, have given much of their time and energies toward the ambulance in the past with Val doing practically all the driving, and Mrs. Mendenhall the laundry at times. Mr. Mendenhall is on call 24 hours a day—and in the past has made it his personal responsibility to keep the old ambulance in readiness.

Everyone in the community is urged to make a contribution—regardless of its size—toward the new vehicle which is to replace the old one, long since past its usefulness.
