

Magnitude of Plywood Plant Is Shown Early Last Week

This picture shows erection of the mammoth roof trusses which will house the plywood plant. Taken from a distance, this view gives the reader an idea of the size of the plant, for it will include the spot where Ed Ingram stood to take this picture. This, with other pictures will be included in a proposed progress edition.

Grants Pass Couple Killed At Sixes Bridge When They Collide With Truck

A Grants Pass couple, whose names were not available at the time this paper goes to press, were instantly killed late Friday afternoon at Sixes, just at the bridge approach, when the car they were driving hit the rear wheels of a logging truck driven by Stanley Fendrick, of Pistol River.

Many details are lacking, but reports indicate that this couple was traveling at a high rate of speed, and as they passed the front end of the truck, were unaware of the rear wheels. The impact turned the car around, and another car hit the Grants Pass vehicle.

The woman's body was underneath the car, her leg up and over the drive shaft, while her husband was thrown clear. Both were killed instantly, it was indicated.

Stanley Fendrick, driver of the truck, was said to have been badly shaken by the fact that he was involved, but was absolved of any blame.

Increased traffic, especially in the movement of logs, and lumber, has been responsible for a number of accidents involving people who will, or at least try, to reduce speed.
