

125 Expected In Local High School

Lynn Hampton, principal, superintendent of Brookings-Harbor school, reports that 41 freshmen, 26 sophomores, 23 juniors and 18 seniors registered on Tuesday 21 for high school entrance. Twelve others are expected to enroll before the beginning of school and together with those coming in late will bring the total to about 125 students in the high school.

Assignment of grade school teachers is as follows:

- First Grade—Iris Kindel, Jennie Carter.
- Second Grade — Bernadine Steele, Evelyn DeMoss.
- Third Grade—Hannah Dottson, Irene Crump.
- Fourth Grade—Lillian Matthews, Ethel Hale.
- Fifth Grade—La Von Wagner, Ruth Garcia.
- Sixth Grade—Tommy Martin, Zona Geaney.
- Seventh Grade—Doris Hampton, Barbara Martin.
- Eighth Grade—Frances Henry, Marvin Wiggans. Mr. Wiggans will also conduct high school band if sufficient enrollment develops.

The following teachers new to the system have had teaching experience in various communities of Oregon and Idaho:

- Ethel Hale, Myrtle Creek; La Von Wagner, Nebraska; Zona Geaney, Lakeview; Tommy Martin, Caldwell, Idaho; Barbara Martin, Jerome, Idaho; Marvin Wiggans, Vale, Oregon.

Parents of elementary children are asked to immediately write a post card to the school, listing the names of each child and the grade in which he is to be enrolled this year. Address the card to Brookings Harbor School, Brookings, Oregon.

Parents of beginners are asked to bring the child's birth certificate. Beginners will be admitted if birthday occurs on or before November 15.

Detailed bus routing will appear in the August 30 edition of the Pilot.

Marvin Wiggans and family arrived in Brookings Monday and began their search for housing. Teachers, like other people in Brookings, find that housing is tight.

the entries in the three classes mentioned above:

- Floricultural Class, 3 stems each
Asters, Begonias, Calendulius, Carnations, Chrysanthemums, Cosmos, Dahlias, Delphinium, Easter Lily, Fuchsias, Galardia, Geranium, Gladiolus, Godetia, Hydrangia, Marigolds, Pelargenium, Rare or Unusual, Roses, Snapdragons, Stocks, Sweet Peas, Shasta Daisies, Zinnias.

Potted Plants
Begonias, Fuchsia, Fern, Geranium, miscellaneous.

Decorative Arrangements

1. Combination of any fruit and flowers.
2. Combination of any vegetable and flowers.
3. Flower and beach arrangement.
4. Flower arrangement in kitchen containers.
5. Miniatures—six inches in height.
6. Basket Arrangements.
7. Mixed Flowers.
8. Flower Arrangements by children under 15 years.

A few pointers may be helpful for getting these ready to transport a long the curvaceous road to the fair. Be sure that your frog or flower holder is fastened securely to the container. One sure way is to have the container dry—the flower holder dry—and the modeling or floral clay dry—"bone dry" that is; then fasten the holder securely to the vase with the clay that has been rolled and slightly warmed between the hands. Of next importance is to pick your flowers early in the morning or late in the evening and place them in deep water to condition. Inasmuch as the fair lasts for three days, it would be well to choose a type of flower with lasting quality. Your arangement will travel nicely in a cardboard carton, open at the top, with a bit of paper around the front and back of the flowers. Good Luck—and may it never be said that the Brookings ladies have no time to be helpful to their neighbors to the north. Think of the responsibility the Gold Beach people carry each year in the handling of the fair.

Violinists wanted for church orchestra Sunday evenings. Write Harvey, Box 488, Brookings, Ore. Melvin Marlow, Jr., was treated for a fractured foot the first of the week at Dr. White's clinic.

Noted Horse Will Be At County Fair

GOLD BEACH, Aug. 21 (Special)—The champion quarter horse Topper owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cooke of Sutherlin will be one of the top attractions at the horse races held at the Curry County Fair Friday August 31, September 1 and 2. He is 15 years old and rated third from the top in quarter horse breed in the United States. Quarter horse fanciers will be pleased to have the first hand opportunity of seeing Topper. One of Topper's colts, May Destiny, 6-year-old filly from Gold Beach, won the quarter mile and led the field by six lengths at the Coos County Fair last week. According to O. P. Ferguson, fair director, entries from southwestern Oregon and northern California have been received, and from all indications this will be the best race meet ever held in Gold Beach.

Kenneth Thompson, fair manager, has lined up a varied program to present, including night shows for the first time. Exhibits will not be released until 4 p.m. Sunday, giving fair goers a full program all three days. There will be many attractions for the younger generation, including the kiddies' parade on Friday, daily dog and pony shows, tractor contest and 4-H demonstrations.

Along Azalea Row

By MARTHA GRAYSHEL

As no business meeting was held at our last Garden club doings, the officers and committee chairmen met at the home of Mrs. Erskine Miller earlier that week. Plans were discussed for the coming Curry County Fair to be held August 21, September 1 and 2. As a civic-minded organization—and as individuals—it was proposed that we hold our end of the county this year with entries in the floricultural class, potted plants and decorative arrangement class.

Mrs. Erskine Miller and Mrs. Clara Kerns have offered to take to the fair early Friday morning any entries left with them Thursday evening, and return the containers after the fair closes Sunday night. What a convenience and how fortunate we are to have two such willing people in our midst! Leave your entries at whichever home is most convenient. The premium list is now available in booklet form and has been distributed about town for several weeks now, but, no doubt, there are some of you who haven't been able to get a copy. For this reason we are listing below

To Readers:

There are but few of us who has forgotten that we could buy top grade hamburger for eighteen cents per pound; eggs for a quarter; and a good pair of shoes for about six dollars. Of course, in those days wages were in proportion, too. We refer to these as "the good old days." Lots of us would like to live in such times, if we could.

Newsprint, when the Pilot first opened in Brookings, was about half the price it is today—but there has been no raise in price of the subscriptions in that time, but most all newspapers have boosted rates in the meantime, many of them doubled rates.

Effective, Sept. 1, in-the-county subscription rate of the Pilot will be boosted to $3.00 per year, payable in advance; and $3.50 for out-of county subscriptions. Unless there is a stabilization in the cost of newsprint, this quotation may be only temporary.

Until September first, the Pilot will give its readers "a break" by accepting one-year paid-in-advance subscriptions at the old rates Any wishing to subscribe before the new rates are effective, please do so at once—today. Henceforth, however, news-stand prices will be ten cents per copy. Please accept this move as one over which the Pilot has no control, but is forced to do.

Classified advertising rates, after Sept. 1, will 3c per word, with a minimum charge of 50 cents. Display advertising rates, for the occasional advertiser, will be 50c per column inch, Regular advertisers may enjoy the former rates for the time being, unless the Pilot circulation continues to grow by leaps and bounds as it has in the past three months. The gain has been almost 50 per cent in that time.

Take advantage of this short time to save fifty cents on your next year's subscription. With present trend of prices, next year may see more subscription raises by all newspapers over the country.
