PEOPLE WILL BE CARELESS

¶ That beach fire, Monday night, did no damage, but until the wind had died down on Tuesday morning there remained that ever-hig threat—that anxiousness that comes from wondering if your home will be burned. People who either camped or picnicked at the beach certainly showed their concern for the rights of others by leaving the camp fire which caused the big beach blaze.

¶ The safety of the Harbor Lumber Company, as well as the Emory Hyland home and the sand and gravel plant of Ross Salvage have a definite place in the economy of this area. Loss of anyone of these would have hurt the whole community.

¶ There are, especially on the Harbor side, some pretty irate citizens. Identity of the people involved may be to their safety, since there might be fisticuffs otherwise.

Teacher Reception

A teacher reception honoring the teachers of the Brookings-Harbor school will be given by the Parent-Teacher association p.m. in the school auditorium on Friday, September 14, at 8:00. This meeting affords the opportunity for parents and teachers to become acquainted and thus work together for the good of the children they are both interested in. This annual event will be under the chairmanship of the new president, Lillian Zumpf, and her staff of officers. This year's school problems call for more co-operation than ever before, and extra effort on the part of parents to assist the hard-working teachers will be repaid in a better school system for their children. Plan to attend and help welcome our educators. Special appreciation is due Lynn Hampton, superintendent and principal, for his work all summer on this year's school program.

Dick Juelson of Kodiak, Alaska, joined his wife, June, here earlier this month for a vacation from his government job at that place. Mrs. Juelson, nee June Hassett, has also been employed in civil service there.
