Looks very much like Stanford will represent the Pacific Coast in the Rose Bowl this year, after their quite decisive defeat of the Powerful U. S. C. Trojans last Saturday. There was no fluke in this win for the Sanford Indians spotted the Trojans a touchdown and then scored two to overcome the "accident."

Stanford's win proves that an experienced team, when the going gets really tough, can come through with victory. The Indians out-played the Trojans in almost every department except, perhaps, determination to win.

Washington and California, in just another game, put on a display of football which must have been interesting to watch from the grandstands, for there was plenty of action on the part of both teams—and touchdowns to make it interesting.

Back during the summer the sports writers predicted the battle for Rose Bowl honors would be decided by Washington and California. Both schools have had possibly their most disappointing season in recent years.

Progress of the local school band is amazing, claim those who have heard it in the band's first public appearance this year. This news should be heartening to the people who long have wished a band in this town. Marvin Wiggins, eighth grade teacher, it is said, has a junior band coming along at an amazing rate, and in the years to come will have these younger children to add to the places left vacant by graduations.

Bands do something for a community. They do something for the youth who will learn to play any instrument. Years later, in college, or in life, these same youngsters will want to see band work expanded. That is the real good which comes from band in the schools.

Several youth have been heard remarking that they'd like to see Brookings enforce any of its ordinances concerning driving of cars. It goes without saying that the youth uttering these remarks know not what they are talking about, for these ordinance will be enforced.

Youth who indulge in hot-rodding, like to impress people with their daring. That is the fallacy of youth. Perhaps a lot of us elders once were infected with the same malady, but in those days it was saddle horses, which had better sense, so fortunately for us there were few accidents. Today, cars cannot think for the youth—and if they will not try to think methods will be taken to help them in this matter. The law expects nothing more than a normal youth—not a wild and reckless one. Try being that kind.

Card of Thanks

We cannot find words to express our sincere thanks to all the kind people of this area who do so much to try to ease the aches in our hearts during our recent bereavement. We especially wish to thank all of Lyndel's schoolmates who did so much to honor our son. These deeds will never be forgotten by us.

Conservationists Respond To Call

Conservationists of this section of the state have responded generously to the Oregon Wildlife Federation's conservation appeal, reports John M. Hayes, Westlake, chairman of the Federation's emblem committee.

"The public may judge for itself the co-operation given by the sportsmen of the area by the liberal display of conservation stickers," Hayes said. He pointed out that, in addition to emblems now being seen, many people doubtless have made contributions but have not put their "badge" on display.

Hayes urges all those who have neglected making their return to the federation, in the envelope provided for that purpose, to do so at the earliest opportunity, thus making it possible to close the books the year.

Bible Prophecy Fall Festival Billed

A lecture, Sunday evening, was heard by a large audience on the subject: "Armageddon," foretold in Rev. 16:12-18. No one can say that the next war will be Armageddon, but the prophecy foretells that the battle will be at some be fought for "he gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon." (Rev. 16:16).

When the seventh angel pours out his vial, there will be a great time of trouble such as never was, when "The wicked are like the troubled sea, when it cannot rest." (Isa. 57:20) "We look for peace, but no good came." (Jer. 8:15). Men crying "Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them."

Blood Sought For Korean Veterans

The north California Community Blood Bank was represented in this area Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Margaret Larson, secretary of the Crescent City V. F. W. and Mrs. Hazel Green, senior vice-president. The bloodmobile will arrive at Crescent City on Thursday, Nov. 15, at 5:30 p. m. Blood is urgently needed for wounded in Korea. It takes nine blood donors to care for one veteran, or four pints of whole blood and two units of plasma, and it costs $9 to process it for the veteran's use. A donor can give every three months. He must be 110 pounds or over, and over 21 years of age.

Donors are asked not to eat for four hours before giving blood but can have either coffee or any fruit juice. Refreshments will be served afterwards.

Donations may designated for any branch of service, person or area.

There are several local people who have been classified as local blood banks, and will not be accepted since they are needed for emergency donations at hospitals.

Word from Mrs. Ed F. Ackley to friends indicated that she expected to be home soon. She is convalescing from her recent surgery at the home of her mother at Santa Cruz.
