Football reputations fell last Saturday with reckless abandon all over the nation, especially on the Pacific coast, where "big" teams were treated with greatest of indignities. California, which had experienced a poor season, played world championship style to submerge Stanford 20-7 before 90,000 fans, at Palo Alto.

Southern California, which also had Rose Bowl hopes, was just "another team" to UCLA, which made the Trojans look much like amateurs in the conference. The highly-touted University of Washington Huskies fell before the up-and-coming Washington State Cougars at Seattle. The Huskies had their most miserable season of recent years for they had been labeled certain for the Rose Bowl.

So goes the fortunes of football, and bears out a recent Rotary Magazine article which insisted that a person should never bet on a football game. It seems that one team will "slant" for a certain game—may even lose every game up to that time, but come across with the crucial win.

Only Oregon ate, on the Pacific Coast lived up to predictions—by winning over the University of Oregon, but the Beavers had to come from behind to do it. The same may be said of the WSC Cougars, who were two touchdowns behind at the half. Rivalries have plenty to do with final outcomes—don't forget it!

That page in the Oregonian on Sunday made many local people swell with more than a little pride—made them feel so glad they lived here, where the eyes of the world are focused at the present.

Limited to a page only, Ralph Vincent, who knows intimately, the progress of this community, did his best to depict every advancement to give the world a picture of the growth here. He featured the new council, and the hopes for the future as well as he could.

The Pilot will attempt to do a commendable job of exploiting the attributes of this area in its special edition to come off the press on Dec. 27. The hope is to have four sections or more of pictures and messages from local advertisers.

This special edition will be published in sections, one for each phase of the local life, such as flowers, lumber, schools, etc. All the pictures available will be included in the edition.

TAKE IT TO CHAMBER MEETING

Announcement almost weekly of new businesses in the area shows how this area is being watched by the entire state. Future development of the area depends so much on the co-operation of all businesses toward a common goal—of good merchandising, of good and sound association between customer and merchant. Perhaps the best way for all concerned to arrive at such a solution is to become members of a chamber of commerce, there to bring problems, to discuss ways and means of handling any difficult problems facing the town and business.

Infant Shop Will Open Here Dec. 8

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Robinson, owners of Clara's Tot Shop at Grants Pass, are putting in a new store in Brookings. They will be in the Kerr building, in the room recently occupied by Brookings Electric and Rado, and opening date has been set for Dec. 8.

Associated with them in the store here will be a nephew, Geo. Weigel, of Portland. The store will be known as Robinson's and for the present will feature a full line of infants and childrens wear with toys and juvenile furniture.

After the first of the year other lines of general merchandise will be added. The Robinsons are buying a home here, and will operate their Grants Pass store as branch from here.

Barrett Weds Gold Beach Girl, Sat.

Pvt. James Barrett, one-time popular Pelican baseball player, and Marjorie Jean LeClair, of Gold Beach, were married at the Community church, Gold Beach, Saturday, according to invitations received by friends in this area.

Barrett, now in the army, recently was stationed in Georgia, and his bride, graduate of Gold Beach high, has recently been the secretary in the extension office for Clifford Jenkins and Miss Gorsage.

Christmas shopping at home is your best method of showing the merchants that you like them.

Mrs. Clifford Lindskoug and Mrs. Lee Rice are also new members of Azalea Garden Club, inducted at the last meeting. This information was given to the Pilot after Azalea Row had been set and was on the press.
