

LANGLOIS

By Marian Brooks

Everything is hustle and bustle in anticipation of the big week-end and holiday festivities ahead. The home-coming of children and relatives and preparation for the Christmas feast seem to fill the air with happiness but, news is scarcer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards returned Dec. 10, from a trip through the mid-western states. They visited seven or eight, including Iowa, his boyhood home.

The seventh and eighth grade girls have organized a glee club with Charles Jensen and Jean Strain leading them. Also in the seventh and eighth grades a 4-H heal club was organized. They met Nov. 20 and elected officers with Ellen Storm as president, Alma Wise, vice-president; Arlene Kerber, secretary-treasurer. Patricia Mermilliod and Rosalie Turner are yell and song leaders, and Dolores Bruchler news reporter. Mrs. Jean Strain is the leader and Friday will be the regular meeting day.

4-H sewing 3 Club met and organized Dec. 13, with Mrs. Archie Aldropp as leader. Election of officers was held: Jeanette Thompson, president; Arlene Kerber, vice-president; Irene Sypher, secretary; Bobby Jean Sypher, the song leader; Joan Cox, reporter; Velma Ann White, game committee, and Alma Wise, yell leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marsh of Lebanon visited at the Late Henry home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Brooks were at Coos Bay Tuesday purchasing interior finishing material for the new home on Floras Lake road.

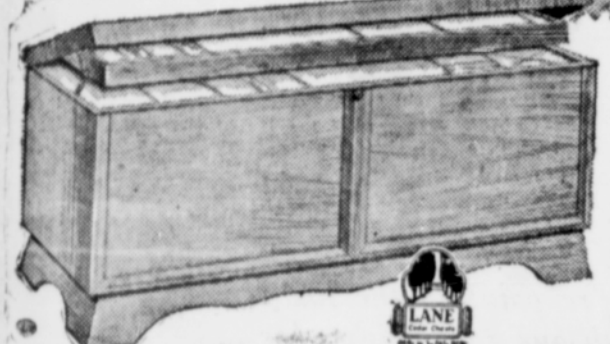

Leslie Moore surprised friends by returning home this week with a bride. She was Esther Bergland of Boise, Idaho. They were married at Portland, Dec. 2, at the White Temple. The community offers congratulations and best wishes.
