

Dog Poisoning Has Citizens 'Wrathy'

There are plenty of irate dog owners in this area who, if they could find out, might commit an act of mayhem upon the person or persons poisoning dogs, or the shooting, which, in some sections has been reported.

Mack Malcolm would like to know who poisoned his dog. He said that he wouldn't have felt half as bad if the animal had been shot. "I believe I would have killed the person, had I caught him," was the comment he made to the Pilot.

M. M. Jaklewicz lost two dogs, one a 5-months-old Police pup, and the other a Collie. Both, he said, had been shot. He is anything but happy over the situation, inasmuch as he had been careful not to permit his dogs to roam or molest people.

C. A. MacKenzie could do even worse bodily harm to the person who slew his pedigree dog, which he prized more than money. The situation has become explosive in the area, and those perpetuating the acts might find themselves in quite a tangle if the fact ever gets out of their acts.

Open House

Youngs Gift Shop observed the addition of a floral department last week with an open house on Friday. Gardenia corsages were given to the ladies. People were pleased with the display, and a call for more plants was made to replace the number carried away by patrons.
