Power outages, even for a short time, plague the Pilot beyond word when it comes to publishing a newspaper on time. When power is off as little as five minutes the metal in the linotype pot will "freeze" so that once the power is restored, it will take as much as a half to three-fourths hour to bring back to "hot" so the machine may be operated. It was such incident that delayed this issue of the paper, as well as a number of recent issues.

Cub Scouts will hold pack meeting on the last Wednesday evenings of the month. Mrs. Starr will take the den formerly under Mrs. Higginbotham. Mrs. Anderson took Den for a meeting for Mrs. Wallace last week at her Harbor home. More den mothers are needed in the Harbor area. George Widney told the Pilot, on Wednesday. He also said he wished to publicly thank Mrs. Higginbotham for the work she has done with the Cubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Beem went to Portland last Tuesday and returned home this week.

Mrs. Maude Gordon of Rapid City, S. Dak., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Beem. The Beems are former residents of South Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Seliway of Klamath Falls spent last week-end at their acreage on Pioneer Road.

Quite a number of the local teachers went to Portland this week to attend the state meeting of Oregon Education Association. School will resume next Monday morning. It is hoped the week's vacation will help in its abatement of the epidemics prevalent in the area.

Don't forget your chamber of commerce desires your presence at its Thursday noon meeting, at Don't Cliff House. This week a representative of the Coos-Curry Electric Co-operative will be on hand to explain the low voltage and the increased electric bills. The chamber meets every Thursday noon at the Cliff House.

Dave Franklin, owner of Coast Freight Lines, of Coos Bay, was a business visitor here last Friday when he announced purchase of Fox Bros. Truck which had been used to haul freight from Portland. Mr. Franklin, by this purchase, said he is able now to run a double schedule from and to Brookings, daily.

Work on the special edition is temporarily delayed by the neglect of some advertisers in turning over their copy, and the delay, partly due to bus strike of picture cuts reaching the Pilot office. Three sections of the edition are practically done at the moment. Two more are planned if it will not delay the publication too much.

American Legion Auxiliary, in order to raise money to send a junior to Beaver Girl State at Salem this June, has arranged to hold a rummage sale at the Kruger building, formerly occupied by the West Coast Auto Supply, this Saturday. Girls will be chosen from the junior class, and this experience is greatly sought by the girls who compete for the opportunity.

Dr. A. O. Schmitt told friends Wednesday he was tempted to make a six-months trip about the world, but added that this was now a dream, however being seriously considered.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Crissey enjoyed a short visit with a niece and nephew of Portland last week when they stopped over night on their return trip of the southern states and Mexico.

Earl Breuer, one of the owners of Seaview Dairy, plans a trip of various creameries and dairies of the western section of Oregon this week-end. He will be concerned in practices mainly.

Kay Sandstrom has closed her beauty shop for the week, and is at Portland attending a beauty school and clinic. While away she will have remodeling done.
