New Manley Building Houses Two 'Progressive' Stores

The Manley Building, housing Young's 5 & 10, and Chetco Drug Store, was completed late last summer by Clive Manley, with Roy Weideman as designer and contractor. This building is modern in every respect, and shows the trends of building in this community. The building to the left is the Vincent building, housing the Gould's Shoe store, Chad's Restaurant and Phillips Lad and Dad's Shop.

Lights Installed

Three sodium vapor street lights were installed late last week by Coos-Curry Electric Co-operative in this area, to give better coverage nearer the school.

One light was installed near the entrance to the Chetco Inn on Fern street, another at the intersection of Pacific and Fern and the third at the school entrance, thus giving school children light to guide them down town if at night.

Pilot class ads pay—use them.

Mrs. Viola Ramalia Seeks Clerk's Office

Mrs. Viola Ramalia, of Gold Beach, whose husband was tragically killed near the Gold Beach bridge just before Christmas, is seeking the post as county clerk, she announced on a recent trip to Brookings. Mrs. Ramalia, although a registered Republican, told the Pilot she held hopes she would be nominated on the Democratic ticket, as nomination as a write-in would be asking too much, on the Republican ticket. She seeks the post held now by Mrs. Oleta Walker.

Professional Men
Come To 'Area'

Since Brookings began to expand, professional men have been enticed to the area to help the citizenry. Included in this have been optometrist, dentist, two osteopathic physicians and surgeons and a medical doctor. Before, it was up to Dr. A. O. Schmitt to do as best he could, after he had once retired from practice.

Dr. Roy M. White came here from Jacksonville, and soon had a clinic under construction. Dr. Robert E. Smith, dentist opened offices, first in the Goetz building and later in the clinic. Dr. John Wills another osteopath, joined Dr. White in the clinic, and recently Dr. Richard Smith, optometrist, has joined the clinic staff. A few months ago Dr. Paul Ronniger, M. D., opened offices in the Manley building.

Professional needs, other than those mentioned, also include the establishment of law offices by Ed F. Ackley, in 1946; by Samuel A. Hall and O. H. Bengtson, in 1951. That completes the professional man's assistance.
