

Wanda Gossage To Wed, June 7

GOLD BEACH—Wanda Gossage, Curry county extension agent in home economics since last August, has resigned from her official duties as of May 17, according to Clifford Jenkins.

While there has been no one named at the moment to replace Miss Gossage, the extension office plans are under way to have a replacement within a short time.

Miss Gossage will be wed to CECN Frank Phipps, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Phipps of this place, June 7 at Bellingham.

Frank Phipps is now in the navy, and after the honeymoon at Bellingham, the couple will live at Davisville, Rhode Island, navy base.

In her short term here, Miss Gossage has increased the 4-H membership of the county about 40% Jenkins stated.

Miss Gossage has also increased the interest and activities of the home extension units of the county. Her influence will be missed.

Observers Resign Weather 'Work'

According to a statement to the Pilot last week by Paul Whirry, local observer, both he and Mrs. Loring, assistant, had resigned from their posts, effective on June 1. Unless someone volunteers to take over, this important link in the weather map may pass into obscurity.

Mr. Roberts, of Portland, who has had considerable meteorology work with his air force training, told the Pilot he was going to check into the chances of obtaining the station, if possible.

Mr. Roberts will have charge of the new car lot being built just west of the Ed Dempsey lot.
