as one of the outstanding Masonic events in the northwest.

Beginning at three o'clock in the afternoon of the 15th, at the Scottish Rite temple, Salem, the officers of Salem lodge will confer the first section of the degree after which an outline of the history of Masonry in Salem will be presented by R. V. Carleson who is lodge historian.

At 5:30 p. m. a no-host dinner will precede the trek to Eola Hills where, in addition to the second section of the Master Mason degree, a re-creation of the first meeting held by the lodge will be presented in the costume of the period. Also, visiting members of the Grand Lodge family will be presented and Ralph S. Nesbitt, Grandmaster for 1951-1952, will make the principal address. Carl L. Snyder, Worshipful Master, extends a cordial invitation to all Master Masons to join Salem Lodge No. 4 in the celebration of its 100th birthday as a chartered lodge.

LOCAL NEWS

W. F. Wolf of Portland and G. T. Stadstad of Vancouver were in Brookings Monday, relative to establishment of a Mall Chain Saw sales and service shop on Wharf street, in the new building being erected on the Goldsberry property. An advertisement appears elsewhere in this issue.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Mandigo and son, Jim, of Dayton, were visitors here briefly Friday. They recently sold a sand and gravel business at Dayton and are looking for a new location, possibly in Curry County. He is an experienced office man, bookkeeper and credit man, and seeks that type of employment. An advertisement appears in the classified section.

Members of the Pilot staff were shocked by the information at this late date that Bernie Zollman of Klamath Falls, former resident of Pioneer Road, had passed away from a heart attack in February. Mrs. Zollman and her grandchildren were here last week and met many old friends, and then divulged the news.
