

Beavers Drop Two to Drain, Sunday

It was the same old story for the luckless Beavers at Drain Sunday as the strong wrecking crew managed by Roy Helser, former Portland pitcher, slugged out a double win by the decisive scores of 13 to 2 and 12 to 0.

Vic Lapiner, University of Southern California freshman pitcher, made his first start for Brookings in the opener and received pretty rough treatment although defense behind him left considerable to be desired. Gene Peterson, ex-Yakima W. I. league hurler, held Brookings to four singles, two by Manager Whitey Matson and one each by Bunky Peterson and Bob Chapman.

Roy Helser blanked the Beavers with two hits in the seven inning night-cap. Bunky Peterson singled in the fourth and Keith Johnson beating out an infield hit off Helser's glove in the sixth.

Wally Maciel held the Drain sluggers well in hand for the first three innings but weakened in the fourth and was driven from the mound after five runs had scored.

Eager 4-H boys and girls clamored aboard the Greyhound bus at 9:00 a. m. Tuesday, bound for Corvallis and 4-H summer school. So thrilled were everyone that the parents were almost forgotten as the bus started to roll. Only a few had time to give more than just a wave, some were too late to do even that.

To most of the youth from this area, it meant the second time, to a few the first time, and to others, third or more times. However, to the 'Plebes,' those first year people, enough had been said that they 'almost' knew what to say and what to take along. Yes, the older youth were generous in sharing with the newer youth all the glories and fun which come from obtaining a 4-H scholarship.

Bill Wallace came in from right field and managed to retire the side but ran into a buzz-saw in the fifth with Drain scoring five more runs. Keith Johnson finished the game without further damage.

The Beavers will be at home the next two week-ends and meet the Roseburg Umpqua Chiefs in a double-header Sunday at 1:30. Manager Whitey Matson, with the addition of three or four new players, expected this week, is determined to put an end to the long string of league losses.

These youth were joined by another group at Pistol River, another at Gold Beach, one at Port Orford and the last at Langlois. Most of them are acquainted — they are all going to the same school now. Old basketball and baseball scores are forgotten, and now the questions: "What have you been doing in 4-H the past year?"

These youth are rapidly maturing, rapidly become grown men and women—now haven't they been to Corvallis before, and did they not win again to make that trip? Yes, they are trying to live up to what the sponsors may expect them to do. They will not forget their sponsors, but the latter may be terse, and it may contain no more than just "Thank You," but the recipient may feel certain that time at Corvallis is at a premium—and everything has an accelerated pace.

These youth are in their teens—some now thinking about college—others planning to learn all about raising chickens, etc., for they soon will be helping their parents farm, or will be starting up projects for themselves to become as they parents.

Sponsors of these 4-H youth are not doubtful of their charges. They know that no human, be he child or adult, could possibly retain half what is aimed at the youth at Corvallis, but these same sponsors know that some will be retained, and that will make the youth more adaptable to life.

In about two weeks these 4-H youth will be home again. They will have so much to say—they cannot possibly talk as rapidly as they would like, and there is so much to tell. Sponsors will be expecting a report, and these sponsors will be assured a report — a good report.

George Weigel, of Robinson's Kids Duds, and family, spent the week-end at Grants Pass. George got some vitamins helping with haying work on a farm.
