Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. (Frenchy) Arrell and son are enjoying a vacation in California this week. They will return to Brookings on or about July 2.

Chester A. Dimond, one of the owners of Paper Mills Agency of Oregon, was a business caller in this area last Friday. A wholesale paper merchant, Mr. Dimond also visited E. L. Morton, who was at Newberg, Oregon, as cashier-manager of First National Bank of Portland, at the time Mr. Dimond was publisher of Newberg Graphic some 12 or more years ago.

Mrs. Alice Beem who returned from Portland General Hospital last week after a serious major operation, is making speedy recovery. Her children underwent tonsilectomies while at Portland with her.

Mrs. Lucille Patterson accompanied the Carl Bolins to Berkeley, Calif., when they drove south last Thursday morning. The Bolins will visit their daughter and Mrs. Patterson will go to the home of her sister, Alice. She plans to take advanced piano instruction and choir directing, either at the summer school at University of California, or at some private studio while away.

The ladies missionary society met at the home of Mrs. Archie Hendricks Thursday. Members worked on a quilt and made plans for money raising projects. $50 was donated toward a fund for girls going to summer camp and Bible Study at Arrawana Camp near Mt. Hood. It is hoped more will be able to attend through extra funds. The girls will pay part or as much as possible of their expenses.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ostenberg and children returned yesterday from a business and pleasure trip to the Bay Area, and to visit relatives at Petaluma along the way.

New seats are being installed, or may be completed by time of this publication, of the Pine Cone's new alteration program. The seats are plush, and are comfortable to the nth degree.

Jim Nierman, who played with the local team last year, and who just completed his sophomore year at Oregon State College, is here and is employed by Floyd Swearingen. He again is turning out for the baseball team.

Miss LaVaonne Wagner, Roseburg, fifth grade teacher, was a week-end visitor here, coming to attend the wedding of Miss Betty Tyler and Charles Gray, Sunday.

Bob Perkins and Ben Bernie, of Portland, were brief visitors here last Thursday morning. In a big hurry to get back to Portland, they did not tarry long.

The wedding of Gene Gould and Juanita Smith was an event of Sunday at San Antonio, Texas, it was reported earlier this month. No details have been learned. Mr. and Mrs. Blair Gould and Barbara are south for the event, going to Gene's commissioning, last Friday. Gene and his bride were classmates at University of Oregon, both graduating last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kessler have the foundation and first floor completed toward erection of a new home on their property on the ocean front, south of Harbor. The new structure will be combined with the present home to more than double its size.

Ira Darst has the first floor of his new house completed, and by the end of this week may have up considerable of the framing. He is building this house next to his home on Tanbark road, toward the ocean.

Names Sought On Gambling Petition

Reports received from the state headquarters of the Oregon Council of Churches indicate the clear-cut need for concerted effort during the next week on the part of everyone circulating initiative petitions to place the anti-gambling measure on the November ballot, it is reported by Dr. Sydney A. Walker, Gold Beach, Curry county chairman for the council's big drive.

Orvan Munson, radio man at Matot's, has moved his family to Brookings from Roseburg, his former home. Matot's now will have a radio man on duty, so no more delays will be experienced by patrons seeking radio repair.

ty chairman for the council's big drive.

With co-operation of numerous other groups and individuals, the church groups have spear-headed the drive to give voters the chance to express themselves on the Oregon gambling question in November. Petitions are in the hands of most churches for signatures.

"Regardless of how a person may feel about this question," Dr. Walker said, "he should sign a petition so that voters may express themselves clearly regarding whether or not they want legalized gambling in the state. We therefore urge everyone to sign immediately."
