

Curry County Has Fine Display at P I

The Pacific International Livestock Show will open in Portland starting October 4th to 11th. Curry County booth will be designed and supervised by Charles and Martha Grayshel. The focal point of the booth will be a map of Curry County superimposed on a large map of the State of Oregon. One side of this map will list the cities in Curry County and the other side list the Natural Resources. Along one wall the theme will be a Pacific Ocean beach with displays of driftwood, etc. and the other wall will feature our native Myrtle with August Johnson turning out rough myrtlewood on a wood lathe, under a bower of fresh myrtle branches. The plywood for the map was donated by the Brookings Plywood Corp.; the wood lathe is being furnished by the Walker-Turner Co. On the display panel to be installed at the base of this map will be featured products of Curry County; cheese from Langlois, wool, minerals, plywood, fir, alder, tan-oak, redwood, Port Orford cedar, myrtlewood as well as literature from the entire county. This show attracts people from the entire Western half of the United States and is a big attraction at Portland each year. The Royal Canadian Mounties drill team, the famous six-horse draft harness team, gaited horses as well as top-flight rodeo stars who will commute by air from the show now going on in Madison Square Garden in New York City, indicates this year's show to be the best ever.
