MODERN CRANBERRY PLANT OPERATING

At the Frank Pook cranberry bog on Airport road, cranberry picking is in full swing. Mr. Pook has a mechanical picker of the vacuum type which takes two men to operate. He has also very recently installed a very nice cleaning plant, many of the parts

Left to right—Don Gosnell, representative of the Howard-Cooper Corp., thru which the new fire truck was acquired; Bill Brown, police chief, and Neil Nelson, captain of the firemen. Residents will be interested in knowing that Brookings' Fire Truck has a three stage 600 gallon per minute Hale pump—600 gallon booster tank—two booster reel—high pressure fog on the two booster reels. This truck was tested by the underwriters and passed and approved as a Class "A" fire truck. The chassis was purchased through the local dealer, Davis Truck and Tractor, and it is a L 185 International truck. The fire truck was built at the Howard Cooper Corp. fire truck dept. at Portland, Oregon.

being made by Mr. Pook himself. When the cranberries leave the Pook log, they are cleaned and all damaged berries removed. Other bogs of this area are also being harvested at this time. To visitors of this area, if you really want to see what is going on, you must get off from the highway and on to the side roads. This area is justly proud of the fine dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep, lillies and cranberries produced here.
