How stupid can politicians get? How dumb can people be?

A couple of weeks ago, according to previous straw votes, the Democrats had the Republicans on the run. The Grand Old Party seemed to be running out of steam. It began to look as if Stevenson was a good bet to win.

Then the Democrats broke the Nixon story. These gentry rubbed their hands in anticipation and chortled in glee as they contemplated this assumed death blow to Republican hopes. It is to the everlasting shame of certain weakkneed Republican leaders that they joined in the chorus for the removal of Nixon as their Vice Presidential candidate. Before their intense scramble for political power, in the face of their mad desire to fatten themselves at the public trough, in their loud and sly inuendoes, the ruin of a man's life and his integrity was as nothing.

Did they believe that we would go along with them in their purpose? How stupid do they think we are? How dumb do they believe us to be?

Nixon gave us a chance to answer these questions. He spoke to us over the radio and on television. Forty millions of us listened to him. As he talked every mother in the great audience heard her son talking. Every father felt his eyes moisten as Nixon told his story.

It is not necessary here to relate our reaction. It is now well known to all of us because most of us have given Nixon our full, complete and enthusiastic support. We shall now go to the polls on next election day and vote him into office. Nixon and Eisenhower will be elected. Do we here put the cart before the horse. Perhaps, maybe that is where it should be placed. Time will tell.

But over and beyond his personal hopes and political aspirations Dick Nixon gave us something more. He gave us a chance to remove the scales from our eyes. He gave us a perspective of what could happen among us. For the past five years we have been asleep. He woke us up and awakened we declared to stupid politicians that we stand for decency and justice among men. Now, awakened, we proclaim that we are through with listening to lies and double talk and insidious propoganda. Now are awake and we begin asking ourselves questions as "Why are we standing idly at the cross roads?" "Why are we wasting our sustenance?" "Why do we continue to fiddle while the world burns about us?" "Is life so sweet, or peace so dear, or property so valuable as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery?" Is America, great in its strength and resources, honest in its hopes and desires, religious in its heritage of freedom, destined to occupy the role of a craven and a coward? "Shall we add to the chaos of the world by our vacillation and ineptitude and disregard of human suffering?"

If we are timid or calculating we are lost. If we are strong and honest we shall survive and go on to greater glory. If we have sublime faith in the rightness of our cause we shall be saved. No matter how hard the fight, how great the cost or how long the night, the fight shall be won, the cost paid and the day shall follow the night.

We thank Dick Nixon for bringing this to our attention.

Langlois Cheese Receives Praise

"Langlois blue cheese is just about the tastiest in the world—next to Tillamook cheese, that is, according to Robert Y. Thornton, Tillamook's representative in the last Oregon legislature who visited Curry county and the Langlois factories this week. The unofficial Tillamook cheese ambassador was a campaign visitor here as part of an extended swing through six southern Oregon counties. He is the Democratic nominee for state attorney general in the fall election.

"Seriously, though," Thornton declared, "Curry county residents would be surprised how often the name of Langlois' famous blue cheese comes up in the conversation when people I meet in various parts of the state happen to discuss the subject of cheese in connecting me with Tillamook."

County TB Ass'n. Hold Meeting

The fall Executive Board meeting of the Curry County Tuberculosis and Health Association was held September 19, 1952, at the home of Mrs. Sidney Walker, Gold Beach, Oregon.

Board members present were: Mrs. Sidney Walker, Gold Beach, president; Mrs. Charles Doane, Langlois, first vice-president; Mrs. J. W. Brooks, Langlois, second vice-president; Mrs. Douglas Devoe, Gold Beach, secretary; Mrs. Albert Allard, Jr., Gold Beach, Treasurer; Mrs. Irene Koehler, Brookings, County Seal Sale Chairman; Bishop Jenkins, Port Orford; Mrs. Walter Cram, Port Orford; Mrs. Fern Talley, Port Orford; and Mrs. Harold Sergeant, Brookings.

Plans were discussed with Mrs. Dorothea F. Miller, Public Health Nurse, to start a Family Relation Study Group. This study group will be Curry County Tuberculosis and Health Association's outstanding project for the coming year. Mrs. Harold Sergeant, Brookings, Social Hygiene Chairman, will make tentative plans for the Family Relations Program throughout the County.

Since Mrs. Dorothea F. Miller, an extended leave of absence, The Curry County Tuberculosis and Health Association will take over the Volunteer Chairmanship of the various Well-Child Conferences that are held in Port Orford, Gold Beach, and Brookings. During Mrs. Miller's absence, general routine will be handled by Mrs. Wilma Jo Allard, secretary, in the office of the Health Department.
