Greyhound Cuts Fares

Greyhound is making substantial reductions in fares between cities and towns in Oregon, effective Nov. 1, in an effort to get travelers to use buses instead of driving their own cars. These reductions are made by means of "The Big 6," as Greyhound's 6-ride family book is described in newspaper advertising now running throughout the state.

In announcing the new cut-rate family ticket books, Glen G. Magnuson, general traffic manager of Pacific Greyhound lines, said that tickets in each book could be used within 30 days from purchase date between any two specified points in Oregon, and that any member of the family could use them.

"At a time when practically every one of our company's costs have skyrocketed, we are lowering fares," Magnuson said.
