

Just About Folks

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grayshel and Mrs. Bertha Whirry went to Tillamook, Oregon, on Thursday, Dec. 17, to attend the funeral of an old friend. They will return to Brookings on Sunday.

Rev. Mumbower and family will not send cards locally this year because of the overload at the post office but they extend the season's greetings to all their friends elsewhere in this paper.

The high school group of the Baptist Community church with their friends will go caroling on Christmas eve. The group will then return to the church for refreshments afterward.

The regular Christmas party of the Ladies Missionary Society of the Baptist Community church, which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. Mumbower, was canceled because of the death of Mrs. Stevenson, who had long been an active member of the organization.

The Christmas program presented by the Sunday school of the Baptist Community church was given last Sunday evening and was a most successful portrayal of the Christmas story. Mrs. Ed McClain was in charge of the program. The entire Sun-

A Fellow's Got to Eat

One of the many very young polio patients to be treated in an iron lung is four-month-old Ronald Hillberg, of Turlock, Calif. The lifesaving respirator reached the hospital through a March of Dimes supply-line just five minutes before Ronald was admitted. Nurse Helen Edginton finds that polio didn't have any effect on the young fellow's appetite.

Boy Scout banquet, according to a report to the Pilot. However, we find that the Nook Cafe prepared the bird. Our appreciation to the staff for this co-operative community service on behalf of our youth is in other. The Nook Cafe, incidentally, will be open Christmas day to dispense holiday cheer and good food relative to the season to all those away from home. Mr. and Mrs. Haycock will roast a turkey and have all the trimmings for their guests.

Wes Sibley, who occasionally sets type for the Pilot, and Mrs. Sibley will go to Eugene, Ore., to spend the holidays with relatives. Sergt. Jimmy Carte arrived home Sunday morning to spend Christmas with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Art Bollinger. He has to be back at his base at Merced, Calif., next Monday. Jimmy Robinson will have 15 days with his family here during the holidays. He is stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash.
