

LANGLOIS

By MARION BROOKS

The March of Dimes program is more than half done. Have you sent in your card? Never has the need been so great as it is this year. The polio epidemic throughout the nation has been the greatest of all time and our county is helping three of the victims of this dreaded disease. No one knows where it will strike next. Do your share to help fight its crippling effect.

Harvey Kimmerman, brother of Bob, arrived Monday for a short visit with the Zimmerman family. He recently returned from a tour with the armed forces at Okinawa. He makes his home with his mother in Kelso, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Haga left Tuesday morning for Blythe, Calif., and on into Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. George Guerin left Saturday for Montague for a visit with their daughter Mrs. Bill Krutzer, and family. Sunday they were in Mt. Shasta visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wes Hogan, and Monday they spent with a niece in Medford, returning home Tuesday.

Mrs. A. W. Britton went to Myrtle Point Thursday to bring her aged father home with her for an indefinite stay.

Representative Rod McKenzie spent the weekend at home, away from his strenuous duties at the legislature.

Lowell Kruetzer and the man working for him were caught by the swift current when crossing high water to feed stock and their boat capsized Friday evening. They had to swim for high ground and spent the night in the feeding shed surrounded by high water. Saturday morning the alarm went out that they had not returned Friday night and men in boats searched the area, finding them at the shed none the worse for their experience.

Wednesday afternoon a group of the Floras Willow club women met at the home of Clara Erwin to practice a skit which will be given at the Talent Hour. Those taking part were Linda Guerin, Docia Sweet, Ollie Britton, Clara Erwin and Marion Brooks.

Kenneth Thompson and Clarence Brooks attended the meeting of the Curry County Development board, held at Castaway Lodge in Port Orford Thursday evening. They reported a good representation from the county except the Brookings area and they were kept away by the recent storm. The board had an interesting meeting and believes with concerted action in the future by the group, much good will come to Curry county.

The Langlois Hi basketball teams traveled to Brookings Friday night in spite of bad weather. Both teams went down to defeat at the hands of the Brookings team.

Plans Made By County Fair Board

The Curry County Fair Board met Monday evening at the county agent's office in Gold Beach. All members of the board, manager and secretary were present. Also attending was the queen committee from Pomona Grange, Bea Phipps, Kathryn Reekman and Marion Brooks. The Chetco Wranglers, Wallare Morris, Floyd Matlock and Ed Hoar and Mr. Hefner, representing the Minerology Society.

The condition of the fair grounds, particularly the condition of the arena, was discussed. Storms have taken a heavy toll of the track and arena this year, necessitating a great deal of work and the driving of quite a bit of piling to stop the inroads of the sea during storms. Insurance for the fair buildings was discussed but no definite action taken but to be given soon by the Grange. One in February and one in May.

Sixes extension unit met at the home of Loletta Myers on Elk River Friday afternoon. There were 18 members present. The lesson given was "Time and Management in Meal Preparation." At the close of the meeting the hostess served delicious pie and coffee.

awaiting further investigation.

The Wranglers reported that their organization was willing to take over the show for this year, with possibilities of another logging show.

It was reported that Jap Yoakum had offered to be responsible for obtaining a sheep dog show. The stockmen's association reported that they were going to put on another barbeque this year and had their committees all set up and lambs donated.

The state engineer asked for office space on the fair grounds for a five-year period. The space was granted providing they build their own office. The queen committee reported on plans for a more impressive coronation and plans were acceptable to the fair board. The board is issuing a call for all groups, organizations, or individuals to prepare to place on entry in the fair parade this year. Be it a float or what have you. Plan now to take part in making your own county fair a really worth while event.

The board is planning quite an extensive advertising program for the fair this year and many visitors will be presented. Judgment of the county will be according to what you make it, and let's make it the best ever
