

10 Foreign Youths Will Visit Oregon Farms This Summer

Oregon will be host this summer to 10 International Farm Youth exchanges from other countries who will live, work and play as members of local farm families during a three-months visit in the state.

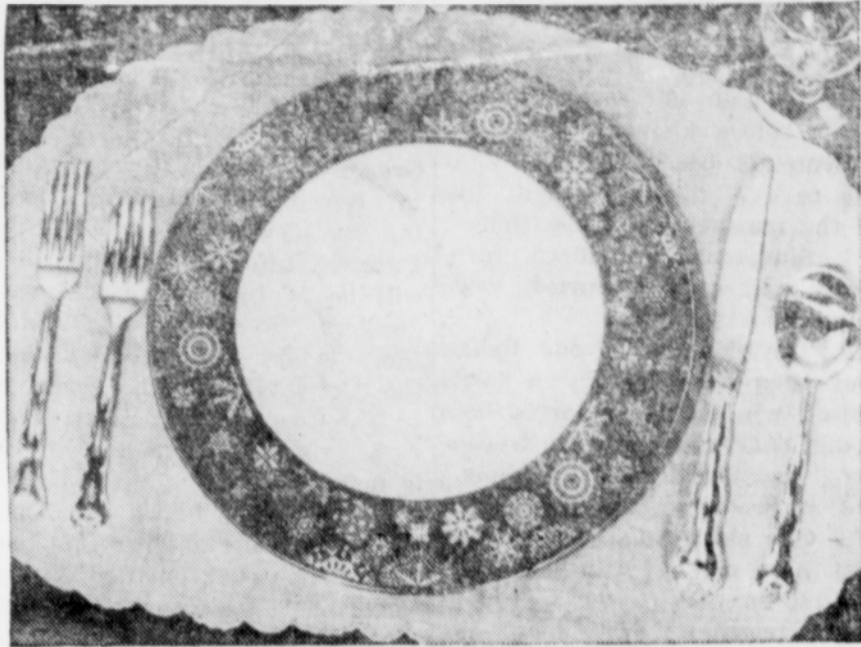

Farm families interested in having one of the young men or women—18 to 28 years of age—live with them for four to six weeks this summer should contact their county extension agent for application forms and additional information, according to Cal Monroe, state 4-H agent at Oregon State college.

Each of the 10 foreign farm youths will live with two or three Oregon families during the summer. They will be expected to work for their room and board and a small allowance. Farm families having young persons living at home will receive preference.

Two Oregon youths are now overseas and three more are scheduled to leave in June for six months under the international youth exchange. The IFYE program is financed entirely by voluntary contributions from civic, farm youth groups, and others.

A recent contribution to Oregon's IFYE fund was $185 raised by Linn county 4-H club members and presented in an April radio broadcast over KOAC at Oregon State college. Marilyn Chandler, 17, Albany, was chairman of the delegation of four 4-H'ers who presented the donation raised through candy and

"A Dish to Set Before a King"

The fragile beauty of frost crystals, clinging softly to pine boughs, is simulated in Castleton China's new "Snowflake" pattern. This platinum-edged, green-rimmed dinnerware, one of four patterns chosen by a panel of design experts, clubwomen and retail shoppers from an original 447, gets the fashion approval of Harper's Bazaar editors in their April issue. The famous designer, Oleg Cassini, says "Snowflake has drama, beauty, character . . . three essentials that guarantee enduring pleasure in any fashion."

LANGLOIS

By MARION BROOKS

Langlois students returning from a visit to University of Oregon Invitational Weekend reported a wonderful time. Shirley and Barbara Phillips, Le Ella Kamph and Clyde Quigley, accompanied and chaperoned by Miss Muriel Hughes, teacher in Langlois high school were the fortunate young folks.

The high school play was presented Thursday and Friday nights. It was well received by an enthusiastic crowd.

Friday, May 8, the combined Port Orford-Langlois band will attend the music festival at Reedsport. Several schools in the district will participate.

Thursday, May 14, the combined Port Orford-Langlois band will hold a band festival. There will be numbers by the advanced and beginners' bands. The Torte, Rhythm and Accordion bands and special numbers by Mrs. Knapp's dancing class.

Mrs. Wm. Strain was taken to Bandon hospital Tuesday morning. She passed away Wednesday, April 29. The funeral was held on Saturday, May 2. She leaves to mourn her passing her husband, Will, three daughters, Eleanor, Evelyn and Beryl, and one son, Harry, and a host of friends and relatives. One daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Hiley, arrived from her home in Montana to be with her mother during the last illness. The sympathy of the community goes out to this bereaved family.

Jim Crewe was confined to his home several days this week with a heart attack.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Martin of Oakland, Ore., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hansen of Denmark Sunday. Guests also of Mr. and Mrs. Hansen for Sunday dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hines of Port Orford.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brooks of Morro Bay, Calif., spent several days visiting friends and relatives in Langlois. They were returning home after visiting in Grants Pas and Salem. They are former residents of this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Heryford of Cedarville, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Al Ticknor of Santa Cruz, Calif., recently spent an evening with their nephew, Paul Smith, and family.

Glenn Noble has considerable material on his lots south of the church in Langlois preparatory to erecting a new business building there.

THANK YOU

The Boy Scout Troop 32 and the Odd Fellows wish to thank Mr. Lyle Redfield for showing his good pictures of his trip to Mexico and other films, all in color. Some 50 persons were present. We received an $18.72 donation for the Jamboree Scouts.

MIKE PAGE,
Chairman, Troop 32.
