

Music Teacher Accredited

Many fine artists and musicians have made the Brookings-Harbor area their home in the years past, among them being Mrs. Norine Harvey, who with her husband came to Brookings during the "Lily boom." Mrs. Harvey is an accomplished and accredited teacher of music. She began music lessons at the age of six and has made the study and teaching of piano, voice and pipe organ her life work. She has her apartment on the second floor of the Studio building on the corner of Spruce and Wharf streets where she maintains a studio and teaches a class of pupils.

She taught music in Portland and played the pipe organ for many years and came to Brookings with a fine background of experience.

Mr. Harvey passed away last year. He, too, was a musician and vocalist.
