Footings Poured For New Church

Foundations were poured last week for the first unit of the new Assembly of God church, with apartment for its pastor and family incorporated in the unit now being erected. This first building is just the beginning of a church extension program which will result in a large building and membership in this community.

The present unit includes a 16x30 room for the present meetings, and an apartment 19x30 with extra rooms on the second floor

4-H Clubs Schedule Summer Camps

A full slate of 4-H club summer activities, including county club camps, district livestock and crops tours and range and forestry camps, are scheduled for July and early August, according to Cal Monroe, state 4-H agent. Camps are planned in about one-half of Oregon's counties.

Farm visits during district livestock and crops tours will give club members a chance to see good livestock management practices, cropping and soil conserving methods. Other highlights of district tours include visits to a sawmill or plywood plant, a packing plant, Bonneville or Detroit dams and Oregon State college.

Scheduled tours include the south coast livestock and crops tour, July 16 and 17; north coast tour, July 30 to August 1; south Willamette tour, August 3 to 5; for offices and study.

After the Bible study room and apartment are finished a large auditorium 32x60 will be finished to accommodate the large membership anticipated with the completion of a meeting place and full church program.

Rev. W. J. Spencer, pastor, has labored with those of his congregation who could donate their time to the actual building and cement pouring in getting the foundation in. He and his wife have occupied a trailer for the past year during the establishment of the church and now feels confident that it will expand and grow under strong leadership and good business management.

north Willamette tour, August 6 to 8; and the Blue Mountain tour, July 23 to 25.

A district 4-H forestry camp at Camp Wilkerson in Columbia county July 20 to 22, will give boys and girls an opportunity to learn forestry practices in the woods with trained foresters for teachers. Charles R. Ross, OSC farm forestry specialist, says a forestry camp is tentatively planned in Douglas county for southwest Oregon club members.

Central Oregon counties will hold their annual tri-county 4-H camp at Suttle lake, July 19 to 24.

A 4-H range camp at the Lilly White guard station in Baker county, August 3 to 8, is open to two to four boys from each eastern Oregon county.

Club camps vary in length from three days to a week, and the tours from two to three days, the state agent says. Club members must furnish their own bed rolls. Members interested in any of these activities should contact their county extension agents.
